

Council Members Engage In Fight Before Committee

Hartsfield Takes Offensive as York Insinuates He Represents Firm Filing Claim.

LITTLE DAMAGE SUFFERED IN ROW

Both Officials Are Cut Slightly About Face and York Nurses Injured Eye.

City financial affairs were temporarily forgotten Monday afternoon when Alderman William B. Hartsfield, of the third ward, and Councilman Harry York, of the sixth, engaged in a fistfight in the finance committee room. Members of the committee parted the antagonists, and both suffered little damage from the altercation.

Mr. Hartsfield resented an insinuation of Mr. York that he was representing the Fulton Line & Cement Co. in its effort to hold the city to a contract to purchase from the concern 50,000 barrels of cement for street paving purposes, and the fight ensued.

The contestants slugged like veterans for a few moments, while Councilman A. J. Orme, chairman of the committee, of which Hartsfield and York are members, called vainly for order.

"Gentlemen, be seated. This must not be allowed to go on," Mr. Orme appealed, but the battle only became hotter.

Combatants Parted.

Several fellow-members rushed to the grappled pair, just as York clinched and Hartsfield attempted to break in order to take a swing. They were separated, both bleeding from superficial cuts on the face, and Mr. York nursing a wounded eye.

The altercation, the first of 1927, was precipitated when York insinuated that Hartsfield was representing the Fulton Line and Cement company in a contract on which the company insists on a settlement. The contract was made in 1923 for 50,000 barrels of cement. The city failed to use the amount for which it contracted, and the firm claims the city owes it the profit it would have made from the contract.

Mr. Hartsfield contended that the company was within its rights and that the city attorney has so ruled. At this juncture Mr. York said the contract contemplated that the city was to buy only so much of the 50,000 barrels as it needed.

"And furthermore, I am not representing the company," York declared pointedly.

"Neither am I, nor have I ever represented it, and if you say I do, I'll beat you," Hartsfield retorted.

One word brought on another. The finance committee ceased its deliberations in a futile effort to restore peace. Hartsfield jumped from his seat and headed for York, and the fight was on. Half a dozen members of the committee parted the pugilists. Hartsfield's parting word was: "I'll get you yet." York's retort was: "I'll be ready."

Even after the fight had been killed Mr. Hartsfield invited York out into the hall or to the street.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers arrived at the committee chamber just after the fray to present the needs of his department to the committee.

NEW DETACHMENT OF U. S. MARINES ORDERED TO CHINA

Force of 300 Men Now at Guam Will Be Placed at Disposal of Admiral Williams.

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Further precautionary moves by the Washington government to insure readiness of its naval forces to protect American lives in China, should the need arise, were disclosed today at the navy department.

The cruiser Huron, recently relieved as flagship of Admiral Williams, commanding the Asiatic fleet and en route to Puget Sound navy yard to be decommissioned, was held at Guam in readiness to pick up the marine detachment there for service in China, should it be called for by Williams on his arrival in Chinese waters from Manila.

It was reiterated by Secretary Willbur and Major General Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps, that the Huron was diverted purely as a precautionary measure on the initiative of the navy department itself. This was confirmed at the state department where it was said that no request for naval forces had been received from the American consul at Shanghai. The point where attention of various powers is now centered due to the size of the foreign population there and the fears, expressed in press dispatches, that the anti-foreign demonstrations, which forced the virtual evacuation of the British concession at Hankow, might spread to Shanghai.

Steps taken to reorganize at San Diego, Calif., a marine battalion available for instant movement in any direction have formed another element of the precautionary measures taken by the navy department. It was emphasized, however, that mobilization of the battalion was ordered for the purpose of having ready a force for quick transportation, either to Nicaragua, Guam or direct to China, in such a movement became necessary.

The detachment of Guam consists of approximately 300 men. There are 1,900 American marines in the Orient, 500 at Peking, 150 at Cavite, and 100 at Olongapo, Philippine Islands.

The remainder are on ships.

ANTI-FOREIGN AGITATION IS INCREASING IN CHINA

Peking, January 10.—(AP)—Agitation against foreigners is spreading rapidly over interior China and their condition has become precarious.

Dispatches from the foreign officials at Hankow received today stated that the British were removing their missionaries from all places they could reach in the provinces of Hupeh, Hunan and Sze Chwan in the Yangtze river basin and from Fukien province along the coast.

The nationalist government has taken over temporarily administration of British concessions at Hankow and Kiangsu cities on the Yangtze where coolie mobs, excited by anti-foreign speeches and propaganda a few days ago, tore down British concession barriers and swept in riotous fashion over the foreign section. American and British women and children placed aboard river steamers to escape jeering, hostile coolie mobs, have arrived in Shanghai to receive protection of white residents there.

The Cantowese soldiers of the nationalist government, unpaid for months, have become surly and foreigners expressed little confidence that they could be controlled. Transportation was sought at Hankow to convey more American women and children to Shanghai, following those who departed last week.

SENATORS PASS $6,000,000 SUM FOR SEED SUPPLY

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—The senate agricultural committee approved today the Norbeck bill to authorize an appropriation of $6,000,000 to be used in providing seed in stricken areas in the middle west and upper Mississippi valley.

Snow Away Down In Dixie

Snow this far South is somewhat of a novelty, and it would be a good thing if we had a little more of it. While it lies on the ground it helps kill off the hibernating insect pests, and when it melts the moisture seeps into the soil instead of washing it away.

When it gets cold enough to snow we need warmer clothing, also heating apparatus, and fuel to burn in them. If you are short in any of those needful things, or if the old ones need replacing, turn to the advertisements in The Constitution.

Those advertisements are always in The Constitution in season. You may pass them by when you are not interested, but they are there nevertheless. Right now you are certain to be interested, so give them careful consideration. You receive suggestions as to what to buy, where to make your purchase, and give you a very exact idea of what it will cost.

Chaplin Married To Escape Prison Lita Charges in Suing for Divorce

TELLS OF ALLEGED AFFAIRS WITH SIX RIVALS

Left to right: Charlie Chaplin, millionaire and world famous comedian; Charlie Chaplin, Jr., one of his two children; Mrs. Lillian Spicer, his mother-in-law; and Lita Grey Chaplin, his wife. Mrs. Chaplin is now suing for divorce, custody of her children, and half her husband's fortune, estimated at from $10,000,000 to $16,000,000.

Los Angeles, Calif., January 10.—(AP)—A suit for divorce from Charlie Chaplin was filed here today by his estranged wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, in which she made sensational charges against the film comedian.

The complaint in the divorce suit covered 42 pages and hurled a host of charges against Chaplin, including infidelity, threats upon his wife's life, lack of affection for his children and other accusations of an unprintable nature.

While the suit asks that the court set temporary alimony and attorney's fees for Mrs. Chaplin to be followed, if the decree is granted, by permanent alimony and proper division of the community property, no specific sum was named.

An injunction was granted by the superior court following filing of the suit restraining Chaplin from taking any of his properties outside the state or in any way disposing of them.

Mrs. Chaplin's suit asks that she be given custody of the two children, Charles Spencer Jr., aged 2, and Sydney Earl, aged 1.

Chaplin is on his way to New York, on "important business," his attorney announced.

The intimate story of the Chaplins' family life as told in the wife's suit begins with their return from Mexico where they were married November 23, 1924, Chaplin on the train telling friends, it is alleged, that he had been forced to choose between marriage and prison.

"Well, boys," he is quoted as saying, "this is better than the penitentiary, but it won't last long."

Arrived home, Mrs. Chaplin said her famous husband told her: "This marriage won't last long. I will make you so damn sick of me you won't want to live here."

The charge is made by Mrs. Chaplin that Chaplin delayed the ceremony as long as possible seeking to avoid it and later in the complaint she declares that he offered her "half a million" rather than marriage.

Frequently he accused her of ruining his career and when she protested at his treatment, the petition said Chaplin declared: "Well, what different kind of treatment can you expect? I didn't marry you because I wanted to, but because you made me."

Record Cold For Winter Slated Today

Mercury To Tumble Below 20-Degree Mark, Following Snow.

With the biting teeth of Jack Frost nipping at those who dared to brave the snow-covered streets of Atlanta Monday, prospects of the season's coldest weather for the city was seen in the temperature drop to 18 or 20 degrees scheduled for early this morning, according to A. H. Scott, assistant meteorologist of the local weather bureau.

The cold was predicted to follow in the wake of Monday's snow flurry which will be accompanied by clear and brightened skies, the weatherman stated, adding that relief from the piercing northerly winds could also be expected.

Monday's snowfall, which was the second experienced in Atlanta this winter and the first lasting one, began early Sunday night and was suspended until the small hours of the morning Monday, when an ermine blanket spread over the city to surprise the early risers. The previous snow flurry occurred during the latter part of October. This winter's record minimum temperature, which is expected to be broken by today's snow, was experienced December 16, when the mercury reached the low ebb of 21 degrees.

Following the drop to about 18 degrees forecast for this morning the temperatures are slated to rise steadily but it will be a few days before as mild a spell as has recently prevailed will return. The maximum temperature for today will be 32 degrees, Mr. Scott said.

THOMSON GIRL HELD AT WOODBINE

Camden Sheriff Says That Girl and Man Who Disappeared From Thomson Are There.

Thomson, Ga., January 10.—(AP)—Local authorities were advised late tonight by the sheriff of Camden county that Miss Georgia Lowe, 17-year-old school girl here, and J. H. Gilbride, with whom she disappeared on the night of December 29, are in custody at Woodbine, Ga., near the Florida line. The sheriff said he was holding "Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gilbride."

A warrant charging kidnapping was sworn out by parents of the girl against Gilbride when she failed to return home after he had offered to take her to the home of a friend for the evening. They were traced to Macon, where police said guests had reported hearing what appeared to be the protests of a girl being detained against her will during a brief stop at a hotel.

Miss Lowe's brother later went to Florida on information that the pair had been seen traveling in that direction in Gilbride's coupe, and offered a reward of $200 for the man's arrest.

The girl's family said she had known Gilbride, who represented himself as New York newspaper man, only a short while.

Sheriff Lynn J. Norris said he would leave tomorrow to bring the couple here from Woodbine.

MONTREAL BOWS OVER 76 CASKETS

All of Bodies Have Now Been Identified by Grief-Stricken Parents in City.

Montreal, January 10.—One of the most pathetic spectacles in history will be enacted in the French-Canadian quarter of Montreal Wednesday when nearly four score children, killed in the panic which followed the Laurier Palace theater fire, will be buried with the last rites of the Catholic church.

A funeral procession miles long will wind through St. Catherine's street with its burden of 76 little white caskets as the mothers and fathers of those killed needlessly in the stampede at the theater give their dead children the full benefits of the faith which they had taught them.

All of the bodies have now been identified and the grief-stricken French quarter is turning its attention toward plans for the funeral—the last act in a bitter tragedy which began 24 hours before with light comedy on the screen of the movie theater.

Thirty-five more children were trapped and crushed in the theater are

ARKANSAS SOLONS REFUSE TO REDUCE LENGTH OF SESSION

Little Rock, Ark., January 10.—(AP)—Having gone without lunch in an effort to become organized on the first day, the house of representatives of the forty-sixth Arkansas general assembly, voted down a move to hold a 45-day session, by working each day until 6 o'clock, and adjourned today at 3:45 o'clock.

The move to change the session from 60 days' duration was made from 60 days' duration was made by Representative Kaufman, of Sebastian county. When the proposal was put to a vote the representatives were loud in their "nays."

Two Million Dollars in Show-Window Causes Eyes To Bulge, But Run Continues.

New York, January 10.—Two million dollars in cash was piled up like so much waste paper in the show-window of a Broadway bank Monday afternoon to convince a besieging army of depositors that the institution was solvent.

The unparalleled display of ready money caused the eyes of the besiegers to grow like saucers but it did not stop the run.

The depositors stood firm. The unique gesture to stop a run on the Broadway Central bank that began Saturday morning with news that three officials had been arrested for embezzlement of a quarter of a million dollars did not have an immediate effect. The scramble for ready cash continued.

The scene grew in oddity. Word flew along the double line of 600 depositors herded by police that $2,000,000 cash was in plain sight. It spread to passersby. They wanted to see it. Police, fearful of bandits and considering the display a foolhardy piece of bravado, kept the crowds not in line.

MEXICAN PRESIDENT WARNED BY COOLIDGE IN NICARAGUAN ROW

EXECUTIVE TELLS OF NEED TO GUARD RIGHTS AT CANAL

Charged With Murder

NORRIS MAY FIGHT FOR TRIAL DELAY

Several Defense Witnesses Ill or Not Yet Located, According to Lawyers for Defense.

Austin, Texas, January 10.—(AP)—Whether the trial of Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth Baptist minister, for the slaying of D. E. Chipp, lumberman, would get under way here tomorrow was in doubt tonight.

When the district court adjourned this afternoon after preliminary jurying by opposing counsel, the defense had not revealed whether it would announce ready or ask a continuance.

Judge James R. Hamilton instructed attorneys for Dr. Norris to announce their decision tomorrow morning.

Witnesses Absent.

Absence of several important witnesses was given as the reason for refusal of the defense to proceed today.

In the event a motion for a continuance is presented tomorrow, it will be up to Judge Hamilton to decide whether the minister must go to trial immediately.

The prosecution announced it was ready for trial at once, and indicated that any delay would be opposed.

About 100 of the 351 veniremen summoned for jury service were excused for various reasons.

Marvin Simpson, defense attorney, explained that the defense case was contingent on the appearance of several material witnesses, who either were absent because of illness or had not been located.

Miss Hartwell III.

One of these is Miss Jane Hartwell, Dr. Norris' personal secretary, whose defense attorneys declared today was an eyewitness to the shooting of Chipp in the study of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth July 17 last. Miss Hartwell, Simpson said, is ill at Fort Worth.

L. H. Nutt, member of the board of Dr. Norris' church, is detained in Fort Worth by the illness of his child. Another is reported to have been a witness to the slaying.

U. S. NEWSPAPER MEN ARRESTED

Correspondents in Mexico Freed on Demand of Embassy; Bishop Diaz Ordered Deported.

Mexico City, January 10.—(AP)—Bishop Pascual Diaz, of Tabasco, arrested in Mexico City yesterday by the Mexican police today, has been ordered deported.

AMERICAN NEWSPAPER MEN ARE RELEASED.

Mexico City, January 10.—Two American newspaper correspondents, A. W. Folger, representative of the United Press, and the United States, and Clarence DuBois, representative of the Associated Press, were arrested by agents of the department of the interior today and detained several hours before their release was obtained by officials of the American embassy.

Both correspondents were held when they called on the office of the Catholic bishop to inquire into the arrest of Bishop Diaz, spokesman of the episcopate, and four other Catholic bishops who had been arrested earlier in the day.

Bishop Diaz was held on charges of having directed recent revolutionary activities in Mexico. In all, 50 persons were arrested with him, including the following bishops: Echeverria of Santillo, Delamora of San Luis Potosi, Coarac of Papantla and Baldeobino of Aguas Calientes.

Full Text of Coolidge Message on Nicaragua

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—The full text of President Coolidge's message to congress on the Nicaraguan situation follows:

"To the Congress of the United States:

"While conditions in Nicaragua and the action of this government pertaining thereto have in general been made public, I think the time has arrived for me officially to inform the congress more in detail of the events leading up to the present disturbances and conditions which seriously threaten American lives and property, endanger the stability of all Central America, and put in jeopardy the rights granted by Nicaragua to the United States for the construction of a canal.

"It is well known that in 1912 the United States intervened in Nicaragua with a large force and put down a revolution, and that from that time to 1925 a legion guard of American marines, with the consent of the Nicaraguan government, was kept in Managua to protect American lives and property.

"In 1925 representatives of the five Central American countries, namely, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Salvador, at the invitation of the United States, met in Washington and entered into a series of treaties. These treaties dealt with limitation of armament, a Central American tribunal for arbitration, and the general subject of peace and amity. The treaty last referred to specifically provides in article 2 that the governments of the contracting parties will not recognize any other government which may come into power in any of the five republics through a coup d'etat or revolution and disqualifies the leaders of such coup d'etat or revolution from assuming the presidency or vice presidency. Article 2 is as follows:

Agreement of Nations.

Desiring to make secure in the republics of Central America the benefits which are derived from the maintenance of free institutions and to contribute at the same time toward strengthening their stability, and the prestige with which they are surrounded, they declare that every act, disposition, or measure which alters the constitutional organization in any of them is to be deemed a menace to the peace of said republics, whether it proceed from any public power or from the private citizens.

Consequently, the governments of the contracting parties will not recognize any other government which may come into power in any of the five republics through a coup d'etat or a revolution against a recognized government, so long as the freely elected representatives of the people thereof have not constitutionally recognized the country. And even in such a case they obligate themselves not to acknowledge the recognition if any of the persons elected as president, vice president or chief of state designate should fall under any of the following heads:

1.—If he should be the leader or one of the leaders of a coup d'etat or revolution, or through blood relationship or marriage, be an ascendant or descendant or brother of such a leader or leader of a coup d'etat or revolution.

2.—If he should have been a secretary of state or should have held some high military command during the accomplishment of the coup d'etat, the revolution, or while the election, or the election, or if he should have held this office, or command within the six months preceding the coup d'etat, the revolution, or the election.

Furthermore, in no case shall recognition be accorded to a government which arises from election to power of a citizen engaged in or who has been engaged in the constitution of his country as eligible to election as president, vice president or chief of state designate.

America Not Party.

The United States was not a party to this treaty, but it was made in Washington under auspices of the secretary of state, and this government has felt a moral obligation to apply it.

GOOD ROADS MEN MEET IN CHICAGO

Chicago, January 10.—(P)—With a network of modern hard roads with branches extending to every part of the country, making motor travel and transportation of goods quick, safe, comfortable and efficient from coast to coast, and from Canada to Mexico as their objective, more than 15,000 proponents of good roads were here today for the twenty-fourth annual convention of the American Road Builders' association.

Not only is every state in the union represented, but delegates are here from Alaska, Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay, and several countries. More than 35,000 are expected before the convention closes Friday.

The convention will be formally opened tomorrow by H. G. Shirley, chairman of the Virginia state highway commission, Richmond, Va., who is president of the Road Builders' association. Governor Len Small, of Illinois is expected to be on hand to welcome the visitors. J. L. Harrison, United States highway engineer, and Colonel William G. Edens, banker and president of the Illinois Highway Improvement association are among others who will speak at the opening session.

Late today President Shirley opened the road machinery exposition, housed in the Chicago Coliseum, and three other buildings. More than $3,000,000 worth of the latest types of road building machinery is on exhibition.

Thomas W. Connolly Again To Be President Of Building Managers

Thomas W. Connolly, president of the Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers, has been re-nominated and again will head that organization when the present officers, including Asa W. Chandler, vice president, and J. A. Williamson, treasurer, are elected at the 14th annual meeting of the association, at 7 o'clock Tuesday night, at the Biltmore hotel, according to announcement Monday by Fred Shaefer, executive secretary.

W. A. Jones, Joel Hurt, Jr., and W. T. Weckley are expected to be on the executive committee to serve two years, joining J. F. Clegg, H. L. Fincher and M. H. Liebman, old members on the committee.

KENTUCKY REALTORS ENTERTAINED HERE

When C. C. Hieatt, of Louisville, Ky., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, arrived in Atlanta on a special train Sunday, accompanied by a party of 140 realtors, he expressed his elation and surprise over Atlanta's phenomenal growth to Dana Belser, president of the local board, which retained the visiting realtors. The latter were en route to Miami for the mid-winter meeting of the national association. Eight local realtors joined the party bound for Florida.

ARTHUR IS INJURED IN FALL FROM PORCH

W. L. Arthur, 64, teamster at the North Side convict camp, was taken to Grady hospital Monday afternoon with a badly fractured leg, said to have been received in a fall from a porch at the camp. Doctors at the hospital fear that it will be necessary to amputate his leg in order to save his life.

Hospital attendants were told that Mr. Arthur was standing on the edge of a porch early Monday afternoon when he fell, and just what caused him to fall has not been learned.

FULL TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

principles in order to encourage the Central American states in their efforts to prevent revolution and disorder. The treaty, it may be noted in passing, was signed on behalf of Nicaragua by Emiliano Chamorro himself, who afterwards assumed the presidency in violation thereof and thereby contributed to the creation of the present difficulty.

"In October, 1924, an election was held in Nicaragua for president, vice president, and members of the congress. This resulted in the election of a coalition ticket embracing conservatives and liberals. Carlos Solozano, a conservative republican was elected president and Juan B. Sacasa, a liberal, was elected vice president. This government was recognized by the United States. It had been the intention of the United States to withdraw the marines immediately after this election, and notice was given of the intention to withdraw them in January, 1925. At the request of the president, however, this time was extended to September 1, 1925. Pursuant to this determination and notice, the marines were withdrawn in August, 1925, and it appeared at that time as though tranquility in Nicaragua was assured.

"Within two months, however, further disturbances broke out between the supporters of General Chamorro and the supporters of the president, culminating in the seizure of the Loma, a fortress dominating the city of Managua. Once in possession of the Loma, General Chamorro dictated an agreement which President Solozano signed the next day. According to the terms of this agreement, the president agreed to substitute supporters of General Chamorro for certain members of his cabinet, to pay General Chamorro $10,000 for the expenses of the uprising, and to grant amnesty to all those who participated in it. Vice President Sacasa thereupon left the country. In the meantime General Chamorro, who while he had not actually taken over the office of president, was able to dictate his will to actual executive. He brought about the expulsion from the congress of 18 members, on the ground that their election had been fraudulent, and caused the president to resign. Candidates who had been defeated at the election of 1924. Having thus gained the control of congress, he caused himself to be appointed by the congress as designate on January 16, 1926.

"On January 16, 1926, Solozano resigned as president and immediately General Chamorro took office. The four Central American countries and the United States refused to recognize him as president. On January 22 the secretary of state addressed to the Nicaraguan representative in Washington the following letter:

Letter To Minister.

Dear Doctor Castillo: In your communication of the 19th instant addressed to the secretary of state, you advise that President Solozano had resigned his office, General Emiliano Chamorro took charge of the executive power on January 17.

The hope expressed in your letter that the situation would have been cleared up for so many years between Nicaragua and the United States has been disappointed. The treaty now signed by General Chamorro himself, who afterwards assumed the presidency in violation thereof and thereby contributed to the creation of the present difficulty, was signed on January 16, 1926. The treaty, it may be noted in passing, was signed on behalf of Nicaragua by Emiliano Chamorro himself, who afterwards assumed the presidency in violation thereof and thereby contributed to the creation of the present difficulty.

"The United States government did not participate in the conference except to provide a neutral chairman; it simply offered its good offices to make the conference possible and arranged a neutral zone at Corinto at the request of both parties during the time the conference was held. I understand that at this conference General Chamorro offered to resign and permit the congress to elect a new designate to assume the presidency. The conference led to no result, since just at the time when it seemed as though some compromise agreement would be reached the representatives of Doctor Sacasa suddenly broke off negotiations.

"According to our reports, the Sacasa delegates on this occasion stated freely that to accept any government other than one presided over by Doctor Sacasa himself would be a breach of faith with their Mexican allies. Hostilities were resumed on October 30, 1926. On the same date General Chamorro formally turned over the executive power to Sebastian Uriza, who had been appointed designate by the congress. The United States government refused to recognize Senator Uriza, on the ground that his assumption of the presidency had no constitutional basis. Uriza thereupon convoked congress in extraordinary session, and the entire 18 members who had been expelled from Chamorro's regime were notified to resume their seats. The congress which met in extraordinary session on November 10 had, thereupon, substantially the same membership as when first convened following the election of 1924. This congress, whose acts may be considered as constitutional, designated Senator Adolfo Diaz as first designate. At this session of congress 53 members were present out of a total membership of 67, of whom 41 voted for Diaz and 2 for Solozano. The balance abstained from voting. On November 11 Senator Uriza turned over the executive power to Diaz, who was inaugurated on the 14th.

"The Nicaraguan constitution provides in article 106 that in the absence of the president and vice president the congress shall designate one of its members to complete the unexpired term of president. As President Solozano had resigned and was then residing in California, and as the vice president, Doctor Sacasa, was in Guatemala, having been out of the country since November, 1925, the action of congress in designating Senator Diaz was perfectly legal and in accordance with the constitution. Therefore the United States government on November 17 extended recognition to Senator Diaz.

"Following his assumption of office, President Diaz, in the following note, dated December 15, 1926, requested the assistance of the United States government to protect American and foreign lives and property.

"Upon assuming the presidency I found the republic in a state of anarchy because of the attitude assumed toward the government of Mexico in its open hostility to Nicaragua. It must be clear to you that, given the forces which that government has at its disposal, the attack is irresistible for this feeble independence of Nicaragua, and consequently, the constitutional equilibrium which the Pan-Americanism is founded which the United States has fostered with such lofty spirit.

Naturally the emergency resulting from these conditions places in peril the interests of American citizens and other foreigners residing in the country. It renders it impossible for a government so rudely attacked, to protect them as is its duty and as it desires.

For these reasons and appreciating the friendly disposition of the United States toward weak republics and the intentions which your government has always manifested for the protection of the sovereignty and independence of all the countries of America, I am sure that your government in order to enable them to afford a tranquil field of labor for foreigners which is needed for the stimulation of the growth of the prosperity of these countries,

States will of course continue to maintain the most friendly relations with the people of Nicaragua. This government has felt privileged to be able to be of assistance in the support of the Nicaraguan revolution in order to reach a solution in the present crisis and avoid further hostilities and invasions on the part of the government of Mexico.

Aid Given By Mexico.

"Immediately following inauguration of President Diaz and frequently since that date he has appealed to the United States for support, has informed this government of the aid given which Mexico is giving to the revolutionists, and has stated that he is unable solely because of the aid given by Mexico to the revolutionists to protect the lives and property of American citizens and other foreigners. When negotiations leading up to the Corinto conference began, I immediately placed an embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition to Nicaragua. The department of state notified the other Central American states, to wit, Costa Rica, Honduras, Salvador and Guatemala, and they assured the department that they would cooperate in this measure. So far as known, they have done so.

"The state department also notified the Mexican government of this embargo and informally suggested to that government like action. The Mexican government did not adopt the suggestion to put on an embargo, but informed the American ambassador at Mexico City that in the absence of manufacturing plants in Mexico for the making of arms and ammunition the matter had little practical importance.

"As a matter of fact, I have the conclusive evidence that arms and munitions in large quantities have been on several occasions since August, 1926, shipped to the revolutionists in Nicaragua. Boats carrying these munitions have been fitted out in Mexican ports, and some of the munitions bear evidence of having belonged to the Mexican government. It also appears that the ships were fitted out with the full knowledge of and, in some cases, with the encouragement of Mexican officials and were in one instance, at least, commanded by a Mexican naval reserve officer.

Returns to Nicaragua.

"At the end of November, after spending some time in Mexico City, Doctor Sacasa went back to Nicaragua, landing at Puerto Cabezas, near the Bayamo bluff. He immediately placed himself at the head of the insurrection and declared himself president of Nicaragua. He has never been recognized by any of the Central American republics, nor by any other government, with the exception of Mexico, which recognized him as president of Nicaragua.

"Accordingly, the navy department ordered Admiral Latimer, in command of the special service squadron, to proceed to Bluefields. Upon arriving there, the admiral was to take possession of the port, protect the lives and property of American citizens, and protect the lives and property of American citizens.

HEARING IN DEANS WILL CASE OPENS

Hearing on a petition to set aside probate of the will of the late Robert E. Deans, filed recently, will be continued today before Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary.

The petition was brought by Frank Deans, honor graduate of the University of Michigan and now a Rhodes Scholar at Yale, who recently was declared the legal son of the late wealthy Atlanta and therefore had a right to claim his share of the estate. The will was offered for probate by W. O. and G. C. Deans, brothers of the late Robert Deans, who were named executors in the will.

Young Deans claims that his father was unduly influenced to sign the will and at the time of its making was incompetent.

The hearing got under way Monday morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Jeffries. Reading of depositions consumed practically the entire afternoon, testimony tending to show that the late Robert E. Deans was ill at the time of the signing.

Plaintiff's attorneys argued that the will filed for probate was not signed by the late Robert E. Deans, but by the late Robert E. Deans, Jr., who was named executor in the will.

The estate involved in the litigation is said to be valued at approximately $100,000. The late Mr. Deans is alleged to have made two wills, bequeathing Miss Rieba Lawrence, Atlanta beauty contest winner who accompanied him to a Minnesota hospital, the residue of the estate. In the second will Miss Lawrence was bequeathed a home on fashionable Peachtree road and the remainder of the estate was divided among his heirs. Young Deans was not named in the will when it was originally filed for probate, nor was he notified of its filing.

Young Deans is being represented by Horace Russell and Ed Stephens, Atlanta attorneys, and the law firm of Alston, Alston, Foster and Moore. The executors are being represented by Attorneys Reuben and Lowry Arnold, and the law firm of Dillon, Calhoun and Dillon.

LAKE CASE EVIDENCE OFFERED BY ILLINOIS

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Voluminous data purporting to establish the rights of the state of Illinois to construct a canal connecting Lake Michigan and the Mississippi was offered by the defendants in the lake diversion case when their cases were resumed today before Charles E. Hughes, special master appointed by the supreme court to receive testimony.

With the presentation of evidence by the defense in behalf of the Illinois sanitary district, and the states of Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, the litigation enters upon its second stage, the complainants having concluded their testimony.

A sweeping motion by counsel for the defense to have evidence presented by the complainants stricken from the records because it was largely "chimerical and speculative" was denied by Mr. Hughes, who said that he had been authorized to receive all evidence which bore on the merits of the case.

Percy Rockefeller And U. S. Grant, III, In Suit Over Land

Tampa, Fla., January 10.—(AP)—Percy A. Rockefeller, of New York, nephew of John D. Rockefeller, has started a legal battle with Ulysses S. Grant, III, Washington, D. C., grandson of President Grant, over possession of 70 acres of land on the outskirts of Tampa. Papers in the suit were filed today in circuit court here, but no date has been set for a hearing.

Don C. McMullen, Jr., attorney representing Mr. Rockefeller, said the action was brought for the purpose of quieting title to the land.

The bill of complaint names the following defendants in addition to Mr. Grant: Mrs. Ida Honor Grant, Bertha Honor Rippe and Warren C. Rippe, of Chicago, administrators of the estate of the late Ulysses S. Grant, National bank of Tampa, ancillary administrator; John M. Illich and Ellen J. Murray, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Mr. McMullen explained the action today by saying that Adrian C. Honore sold the land to the Tempe Terrace estate, Inc., just before his death and the latter conveyed in turn sold it to Mr. Rockefeller.

Notwithstanding this deal, Mr. McMullen stated, the land was included in the assets of Mr. Honore, according to the latter's will which was filed here. The land is located in one of the largest subdivisions near Tampa. Real estate men here declared it is worth about $140,000.

BISHOPS' CRUSADE WAGED IN FLORIDA

Jacksonville, Fla., January 10.—(AP)—The Florida section of the nation-wide bishop's crusade of the Episcopal church in the United States is under way.

The crusade, inaugurated yesterday by the Right Rev. H. J. Mikell, of Atlanta, will reach into every part of Florida through a team composed of Dr. Mikell, Rev. Dennis Whittle, Yuray, Va.; S. Barton Strong, Chattanooga, and Edward H. Bonnell, Philadelphia.

The purpose of the crusade has been announced as a call for the people to lift itself to a higher plane through the revival of evangelistic Christianity.

REALTY LEADERS GATHER IN MIAMI

Miami, Fla., January 10.—(AP)—More than 500 persons from every state in the union registered here tonight for the opening Wednesday of the annual mid-winter meeting of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Early arrivals indicated that fully 1,000 persons would be in attendance during the three-day convention, with delegates representing probably 250 among the 637 local boards in the organization in this number.

Capital Items of Interest To Atlanta and Georgia

BY SAM W. SMALL,
Special Staff Correspondent.

Washington, January 10.—Congressman Crisp, discussing his bill for farm relief today told the committee on agriculture that the government having afforded protection to industries through the use of its funds is now obligated to do so for the farmer.

"Once a continuity of supply is guaranteed, agricultural influences will tend to stabilize themselves," Mr. Crisp said. He stated that such a continuity of supply would be accomplished through his bill in the carrying over of surpluses from one year to the next.

Mr. Crisp stated that the proposed measure provides for $250,000,000 and $250,000,000, for a revolving fund; and if the farmer, through his own folly in production, uses that up, he must take the consequences and bear his burden himself.

A plea was made by Mr. Crisp for a non-partisan view in considering farm relief measures. "If you vote for one bill and not the other, there will be no legislation," he said. "Stubbornness here will mean that we will all be fiddling while Rome burns."

Under Secretary of State Grew, according to Frank C. Page, who has charge of public relations for the United States Chamber of Commerce, has prepared a striking and highly informative address to be delivered to the citizens of Atlanta Monday night, January 17. The public generally has a very cloudy understanding of the highly important work that is done by the department of state for the promotion of the returns of amity and commerce between this nation and all the other nations of the world.

Favorable reports from the south and from dry goods markets, where the demand for spot cotton has notably improved, have brought about a better undertone in the cotton markets during the past week, according to the bureau of agricultural economics. Middling spot cotton in ten designated markets was up 6 points for the week, closing at 12.35 cents. A year ago the price stood at 19.90 cents. There are indications of growing demand for grey cotton cloths and the eastern mills are looking for increased activity of their spindles and looms in February.

The war department reports a total net revenue from the operation of the Muscle Shoals power plant for the calendar year 1926 as $80,210.67, in a statement just issued. A total of 428,265,855 kilowatt hours of electric power from the Wilson dam was sold to the Alabama Power company and resulted in a remuneration of $872,617.47 to the government. Maintenance and operation of Wilson dam cost $173,717.33 and these figures are highly encouraging to those who are contending for the future operation of Muscle Shoals by the government.

A board of medical officers to meet in Atlanta for examination duties is to consist of Majors James C. Magee and Austin J. Canning and Captain Clyde C. Johnson.

The board to meet at Fort McPherson to examine applicants for commission in the medical department will be composed of Major James C. Magee, Major Nelson A. Myl and Captain Maxwell G. Keeler.

A bill just introduced in the house would allow a payment of reasonable sum, not to exceed $50, for blood taken from anyone for transfusion in treatment of army patients.

Congressman Carl Vinson, of Georgia, figured strongly in the debates over the navy appropriations. He is a democratic leader in the committee on naval affairs and has made an intensive study of those affairs, so that he is regarded as one of the best informed among our naval legislative authorities.

He demonstrated that he has no sympathy with the "little navy" or "paper navy" factions, but stands with faithful loyalty to the old democratic creed that the nation should have a navy at all times adequate to protect it at home and represent it honorably and effectively anywhere on the seven seas.

The postoffice department has denied the use of the mails to Laven & Co., of Chicago, and George K. Stray, of St. Louis, for alleged misrepresentation in the sale of certain real estate holdings in an abandoned townsite known as Citrus Center in Florida. The evidence showed the only business activity at Citrus Center is a gas filling station. The literature of the promoters was "false and misleading, and does not truthfully represent the objects and scenes they purport to depict." The lots cost about $12.50 each and were sold for prices from $144 to $1,000 each.

FARMERS DIFFER ON RELIEF PLANS

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—The perplexing farm relief question which has pestered the brows of legislators for more than three years will be thrust forward with renewed force tomorrow when the house agriculture committee begins consideration of the new McNary-Haugen bill.

The situation has been complicated by the lack of a unanimous endorsement from leading agricultural organizations of any one measure and the predicament in which this places members of congress led two house committee members to complain.

The complaints were precipitated by appearance before the committee of L. J. Tabor, president of the National Grange, who asked enactment of the Adkins debenture bill. Referring to endorsement of the McNary-Haugen bill by the American Farm Bureau federation, Representative Williams, republican, Illinois, declared:

"Here are two of the farm organizations advocating dissimilar measures. How can this committee be expected to act wisely when there is such difference of opinion between farmers themselves?"

Representative Kincheloe, democrat, Kentucky, remarked that he received letters from the president and the secretary of an important farm organization, one endorsing the McNary-Haugen bill, the other the principles of the Feas-Achler relief measure.

The point of divergence between farm relief groups is on the equalization fee provided for in the McNary-Haugen proposal for imposition on basic crops. Because of the attitude of farm organizations on the question, a number of committee members expressed the belief that two bills finally will emerge so as to place the equalization fee question squarely before congress.

While the house side was preparing to wind up its work on farm relief the senate agricultural committee was preparing today to begin. A start was made there when the Norbeck-Johnson bill authorizing a $6,000,000 appropriation for loans to farmers in the northwest to purchase seed was reported.

WOMAN'S NEW TRIAL PLEA IS POSTPONED

Augusta, Ga., January 10.—(AP)—The hearing on a motion for a new trial in the case of Mrs. Lillian L. McKie, convicted here in October on the charge of murdering her husband, George A. McKie, was postponed this morning by Judge A. L. Franklin, of superior court, until January 31.

GIGLI TO APPEAR IN AUDITORIUM ON JANUARY 20

Welcomed as an old friend in a new role, Beniamino Gigli, the celebrated grand opera star, who has sung to thousands of Atlantans in his performances here with the Metropolitan, will appear on the concert stage for the first time in the city on Thursday, January 20, at the auditorium under the auspices of the Atlanta Music club, which has sponsored civic concerts here for the past 12 years.

Gigli's Atlanta program will consist of operatic arias and songs. He is known as the great singer of arias, who brings forward all the thrills that are to be obtained from the colorful, dramatic and tuneful rendition of the great tenor arias from "Martha," "L'Africainna," "I Pagliacci," "La Boheme," "La Gioconda" and "Elixir d'Amore." Gigli is an expert interpreter of songs of all varieties, and he offers some of them in all his concerts. But in addition to this, he sings operatic music as no one since Caruso has done it.

MAN NEAR DEATH FROM PISTOL SHOT

Charles Ahrendsen, 45, of Syracuse, N. Y., was taken to Grady hospital in a dangerous condition late Monday afternoon with a bullet wound in his face, said to have been self-inflicted with suicidal intent. Mr. Ahrendsen was found in his room at a local hotel by employees, who summoned the private ambulance of H. M. Patterson & Son.

At the hospital, doctors stated that the bullet entered one side of the face just above the cheek bone and came out on the other side at the base of the brain.

Questioned by newspapermen at the hospital for reasons of his act, Mr. Ahrendsen said that he had nothing to say except, "It was time for me to go."

Call Officers L. P. Higgins and M. D. Cartwright, who investigated, were told that he had registered at the hotel under the name of C. H. Houston and had been at the hotel six days. The manager of the hotel stated that Ahrendsen claimed that he had been in bad health, was almost penniless and out of work.

COOLIDGE WARNS AGAINST MEXICO

Calles government convinced many senators and representatives that events are fast moving toward a showdown, if not a rupture, between the United States and Mexico.

With Calles proceeding to the dispossession of Americans from oil and farm lands they acquired before the present Mexican constitution was adopted in 1917 and with President Coolidge threatening to withdraw recognition if the confiscation policy is consummated, the disclosure of Calles' anti-American plotting in Central America may throw the match to the powder magazine beyond the Rio Grande.

Calles himself is now so menaced with revolutions at home, organized by the proscribed clericals and other conservatives, and so alarmed at the sudden firmness manifested by Mr. Coolidge in Nicaragua that he is plainly protesting against any withdrawal of American recognition of his government and offering to arbitrate the oil and land seizure laws.

The Mexican embassy here has been in a state bordering on hysteria ever since President Coolidge obtained evidence of Calles' plotting to establish a Mexican hegemony in Central America and determined to use whatever force might be necessary to protect American interests and rights in Nicaragua.

The Mexican government is represented as fearing that Mr. Coolidge, in the event of Mexican revolutions developing, would land forces and establish neutral zones for the protection of Americans at Tampico and elsewhere as he has done in Nicaragua. The situation in Nicaragua is growing worse, Admiral Latimer reported today. Business along the Escondido river has been paralyzed, property has been seized by the revolutionists and the safety of Americans and their properties is endangered. The Sacasa revolutionists have held up shipments of provisions to the employees of the Mahogany company, an American concern. The admiral stated that he had established two more neutral zones at Pinapola and Pearl Lagoon.

American forces in Nicaraguan waters are being reinforced with two cruisers and still more cruisers and destroyers will be dispatched from the fleet which is maneuvering at Guantanamo, Cuba, if further reinforcements become necessary to protect the Diaz government from the Sacasa forces.

Marines Are Ready.

About 500 marines, representing the pick of the corps, are being held at San Diego for possible dispatch as an expeditionary force, either to Nicaragua or to China if occasion should warrant.

Admiral Latimer, with the cruisers Rochester and Argonne, and the destroyer Barker, and a battalion of marines, reached Bluefields, Nicaragua, today, to deal with the critical situation that has developed there.

The presidential message detailing the development of the existing situation in Nicaragua and justifying the protection Mr. Coolidge has extended to the Diaz government found his critics in the senate unprepared to answer him. Senator Borah, republican of Ohio, chairman of the foreign relations committee, who upholds Sacasa as a legally elected president, deprived of his office by the "indefensible intervention of the United States in behalf of international bankers," said he was obligated not to discuss the matter until after Secretary Kellogg appears before the committee on Wednesday.

It was in concluding his account of the Nicaraguan affair that the president discussed the policy of "peculiar responsibility" which he intends pursuing in Central America.

Rights of America

"The proprietary rights of the United States in the Nicaraguan canal route, with the necessary implications growing out of it affecting the Panama canal, together with the obligations flowing from the investments of all classes of our citizens in Nicaragua, place us in a position of peculiar responsibility," he said.

"I am sure it is not the desire of the United States to intervene in the internal affairs of Nicaragua or of any other Central American republic. Nevertheless it must be said that we have a very definite and special interest in the maintenance of order and good government in Nicaragua at the present time and that the stability, prosperity and independence of all Central American countries can never be a matter of indifference to us. The United States cannot, therefore, fail to view with great concern any serious threat to stability and constitutional government in Nicaragua tending toward anarchy and jeopardizing American interests, especially if such state of affairs is contributed to or brought about by outside influences or by any foreign power. It has always been and remains the policy of the United States in such circumstances to take the steps that may be necessary for the preservation and protection of the lives, the property and the interests of its citizens and of this government itself. In this respect I propose to follow the path of my predecessors.

"Consequently, I have deemed it my duty to use the powers committed to me to insure the adequate protection of all American interests in Nicaragua, whether they be endangered by internal strife or by outside interference in the affairs of that republic."

Atlanta Pays Tribute To Poet

Last rites for Frank L. Stanton, beloved poet-laureate of Georgia, who died Friday, drew hundreds of friends and admirers of The Constitution's "Just From Georgia" columnist to the Stanton home on Fairview road. At top are seen crowds waiting outside the Stanton home for the funeral procession, many more persons being packed into the home for the services. The picture at the bottom shows a few of the many floral offerings sent to the grave in West View cemetery by friends in all walks of life.

Nicaragua beginning with the withdrawal in 1925 of the American marines who ostensibly were protecting the American legation, but, in reality, prevented revolution in the republic for more than a decade. With our troops gone it was not long before the country was again in the throes of revolution. The United States refused to recognize the coup d'etat government of Chamorro, but when Diaz was made acting president, in accord with the constitution, Coolidge extended recognition. The president holds that Diaz, not Sacasa, is the lawfully chosen head of the Nicaraguan government at this time. Defense of the administration's Nicaraguan policy was made in the senate by Senator Bingham, republican of Connecticut, last night after the reading of the president's message.

The disinterested character of communications presented to the senate on Saturday by Senator Wheeler, democrat of Montana, was challenged by Senator Bingham. A letter offered by Senator Wheeler, ostensibly from an association of Nicaraguan citizens in New Orleans, Senator Bingham said, was signed by a man, who, as the agent of Sacasa, has attempted to negotiate for the purchase of arms in this country for the use of the Sacasa forces. Senator Bingham also presented state department records to disprove accusations made by a former American consul.

Senator Borah thought some of the statements made by Senator Bingham were well answered in a long reply, "Professor Bingham" on the subject, "The Monroe Doctrine, an Obsolete Shibboleth."

Has Changed Opinion. Senator Bingham, who has been a professor at Harvard, Princeton and Yale, retorted that as a result of his experiences as an officer in the world war, he had changed in opinions on the Monroe Doctrine and had so declared in an address.

"Well," remarked Senator Borah, "it is difficult to argue with a man who has been on both sides of a question."

Representative Romjue, democrat of Missouri, offered a resolution in the house that in order to avoid war to which the course of the administration in Nicaragua was leading, the foreign affairs committee should investigate the affair and report to the house.

Representative Garrett, democrat of Tennessee, minority leader, said the Coolidge message was not "sufficiently full," and demanded "just what is the danger to American life existing in Nicaragua now?" which the president cites as justification for his policy.

HAND OF SOVIET SEEN IN NICARAGUAN TROUBLES.

New York, January 10.—The liberal forces of Nicaragua are being backed by Mexico, which in turn is supported by soviet interests, Alejandro Cesar, diplomatic representative of the Diaz government, said today upon his arrival here en route to Washington. "If the new government will be controlled by President Calles, of Mexico, and the reason Mexico wants control is to further the soviet interests. There is soviet money behind Mexico."

Cesar said that "all good Nicaraguans" are in accord with the policy of the American legation in Nicaragua. "The Diaz government has been constitutionally established, and has been recognized by eight nations. If the revolution does not receive more support from Mexico the Diaz government will be competent to defeat it," he declared, and added "good Nicaraguans would like to have peace through the offices of the American legation."

The Panama mail steamship Colombia was met by a boat of the harbor patrol and a large police escort met the Nicaraguan minister. Cesar occupied a similar post in the administration of President Diego Chamorro in 1920-21. He left for Washington late Monday.

U. S. SAILORS LAND AT PRINZAPOLCA.

Managua, Nicaragua, January 10. United States sailors and marines have landed at Prinzapolca, 30 miles north of the Rio Grande river on the northeast coast of Nicaragua. They have now established neutral zones at all important points on the coast with the exception of Cape Gracias and San Juan del Norte. The conservative government expects an attack on Rama momentarily as liberal troops are moving toward that place. Conservative troops have been sent to meet the advance. Another liberal troop movement is going on in the vicinity of Prinzapolca.

ARBITRATION OFFER REFUSED BY SACASA

Managua, January 10.—Arbitration by Rear Admiral Julian Latimer, U. S. N., to settle the dispute between conservatives and liberals in Nicaragua, has been refused by President Sacasa, liberal government head. A request from liberals in Managua that Sacasa appoint representatives to confer with Latimer and representatives of the conservative government was refused today without comment, by Sacasa. Previous attempts at settlement of the revolution which has been going on in Nicaragua for several months resulted in two armistices between liberals and conservatives but both ended in failure.

Development of St. Simons By Coffin Begins Today

Brunswick, Ga., January 10.—(P)—The big development of St. Simons Island by the Sea Island Investments, Inc., a Howard E. Coffin organization, will be celebrated Tuesday by the people of Brunswick, when an interesting program will be rendered aboard the dredge Blue Heron, which will begin work at the island.

The first work to be accomplished on the island in connection with the development will be the construction of the Tolomato Country club, which promises to be one of the most complete and up-to-date clubs of the kind to be found in the south. It will include a handsome clubhouse, with all conveniences, salt and fresh water swimming pools, bath houses, etc., and an 18-hole golf course to be built under the direction of experts. The course is now being planned by Walter J. Travis, former open golf champion and an authority on golf courses, while the construction will be under the direction of E. D. Vande Water, a noted golf course engineer.

Gordon Leavitt, of New York, is the resident engineer, and is now here making plans for the beginning of the work. He is a son of Charles Wellford Leavitt, prominent engineer, of New York and Palm Beach, whose firm is drawing all plans for the Coffin development.

SIX MEN ROB BANK, GET $30,000 LOOT

Sapulpa, Okla., January 10.—(P)—Six men today robbed the Sapulpa State bank of more than $30,000 and escaped after holding forth in the institution for nearly three hours waiting for the time lock on the vault to be released at 8:45 a. m.

The lives of 18 persons holed up in the vault after the money was obtained were threatened when the robbers started to close the big airtight door, which bank officials said would have brought suffocation to those imprisoned within a few minutes. However, one of the bandits relented and suggested it would be sufficient to close only the day door, which is of cross-barred steel construction. His companions consented and left the big outer door open.

H. A. McCauley, president of the bank, and a customer, who refused to enter the vault, were taken along when the robbers departed in a motor car and were released eight blocks away.

The robbers entered the bank at 6 a. m. and made prisoners of all who entered thereafter, without arousing suspicions outside.

TRUSTEES TO DECIDE ON CLARKE LECTURE

New York, January 10.—(P)—William Harman Black, chairman of the board of trustees of Calvary church, said tonight that he believes the Rev. John R. Stratton, pastor of the church, will abide by wishes of the trustees in connection with plans for them and explain the aims of the new organization. If the trustees consider it proper for Mr. Clarke to speak before the congregation he would be permitted to do so, Mr. Black said. Otherwise he expected that Dr. Stratton would abide by the wishes of the trustees.

Central of Georgia Railway Discusses Significance of its Annual Efficiency Meeting of System Employees.

While railroad service has improved steadily from year to year, that performed in 1926 was the best and most efficient in the history of this country. In his message to Congress last December, President Coolidge said: "One of the large contributing causes to the present highly satisfactory state of our economic condition is the prompt and dependable service, surpassing all other previous records, rendered by the railroads." Other government officials have paid similar tribute. Secretary Hoover describing this improvement in railroad service as "probably the most outstanding single industrial accomplishment since the war."

This steadily improving transportation service is not the result of chance, nor did it "just happen" that the 1926 service was better than ever before. Increased efficiency is in part the result of large expenditures through the past several years for the improvement of roadbed and tracks, for the purchase of new locomotives, rolling stock and better tools, and for other like purposes designed to make the railroads better able to serve their patrons. It is in part the result of co-operation between railroads and their patrons through shippers' advisory boards, traffic clubs and the like. It is in very large part the result of harmonious relations between railway management and employees, and the recognition by both that their interests are advanced when they work together to render railroad patrons the best service humanly possible.

The Central of Georgia has always considered the human element one of the most important factors in railroad operation. It was one of the first to encourage meetings where officers and employees come together to discuss problems confronting them in their work.

The most important of these meetings is the Annual Efficiency Meeting held early in each year, when employees from all over the system gather at some central point to review past performances and make plans for better records. The Central of Georgia's Fifteenth Annual Efficiency Meeting will be held this year on January 18-19, at Macon, Georgia. Several hundred of the road's eleven thousand employees will assemble there for the two days' session, the annual inventory of this company's human assets.

While the "family spirit" is dominant, and officers and employees who have made outstanding records for efficiency and loyalty are given public recognition, the Annual Efficiency Meeting is no "mutual admiration" gathering. The keynote is—how can we increase our efficiency in serving our patrons. The meeting aims to build for the future rather than to glorify the past. No matter how good the record, a better one is made the goal.

Among the subjects to be discussed at this year's meeting are: the safety of the traveling public, courtesy in dealing with patrons—whether directly or through correspondence, the better care of freight and passenger business entrusted to our company, the elimination of waste, the conservation of fuel, prevention of loss and damage to freight and baggage, the smoother handling of freight and passenger cars, the elimination of personal injuries, co-operation between different departments of the railroad, and other topics connected with satisfactory service. In order to give the railroad worker the outside point of view, representatives of the public are invited to address the meeting.

As the yearly "stock-taking" of what the men and women working for this company have done, the Annual Efficiency Meeting is important to every employee of the Central of Georgia. It is equally important to our patrons. They are entitled to good service, and we are trying to improve our service to the public by every means in our power. The increased efficiency and loyalty resulting from these meetings justify the belief that the time, study and money expended in holding them are all well spent.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

J. J. PELLEY,
President, Central of Georgia Railway Company.

Savannah, Ga., January 11, 1927.

BOYS HURT IN FIRE AT VIRGINIA SCHOOL

Front Royal, Va., January 10.—(AP)—Five students of Randolph-Macon academy here were in Memorial hospital at Winchester tonight with broken bones and many others of the 250 who were forced from their beds into the chilly night were suffering from cold and exposure as the result of a fire that destroyed the school early this morning. All of the students, however, had been accounted for, and none is thought to be in a serious condition.

The fire started in the basement of the three-story brick main building and spread so rapidly that many of the students, all in their teens, were forced to jump from second and third-story dormitory windows. Local firemen were almost powerless to check its spread and in a short time the structure was a total loss. The damage was estimated at upwards of $150,000. Professor Charles L. Melton, principal of the school, was seriously burned and suffered from exposure and exhaustion, and Dr. W. W. Sonner, local druggist, was also burned.

FARM FERTILIZER OF MUSCLE SHOALS WANTED BY BELL

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Government manufacture at Muscle Shoals of ammonium phosphate or other high grade fertilizer to be sold to farmers at cost for cash is asked in a bill introduced today by Representative Bell, democrat, Georgia.

The bill provides a $150,000,000 appropriation and request that the product be made available.

Pimples, Boils, Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S. You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—(adv.)

Frank L. Stanton Appreciated In England, Says Cadett

AMERICAN AUTHORS WELL LIKED

(Editor's Note—Thomas Cadett, of The London Times, is the holder of the Walter Hines Page newspaper fellowship, and is spending a year in America under the terms of the fellowship. He has temporarily joined the staff of The Constitution. Mr. Cadett has served on the staffs of The San Francisco Chronicle and The Chicago Daily News. The Constitution was selected, without its knowledge, as the representative southern newspaper on which he is to serve in getting a national acquaintance with American conditions.)

BY THOMAS CADETT.

The death of Frank L. Stanton will not pass unnoticed in England, for there are many who have known and admired his work, which, within its self-imposed limitations, could hardly have been bettered. The regret of those of another nation must be part of his posthumous reward. He, and perhaps even to a greater extent, Joel Chandler Harris gave some inkling of the south, about which we in England still know far too little.

The position of American writers in the British estimation is an interesting contrast to American reception of British literature. There can be no doubt that a larger number of British writers are appreciated in this country than those Americans whose names are household words with us. Any sort of comparison of literary merit is not an easy task; nor is it particularly necessary on this occasion, although I will make sufficient bold to say that, so far, we have a larger number of good writers than America at present possesses.

Without going too deeply into causes, it is possible to observe that there are one or two plainly discernible factors in the case, and that there are one or two equally obvious qualifications attached to the statement I have made. As to causes, there is no doubt that more trouble is taken in teaching good English, speaking generally, in England than is the case in America, so that equal intellect leaves the odds slightly in our favor; it is further true that America, although certainly a nation, is most certainly not yet a racial entity, and that until the centuries have done their work in bringing this about, a truly generally representative literature, as opposed to the many admirable local manifestations that now exist, can hardly arise. It is, of course, merely an opinion, and a dogmatic one at that; but, be that as it may, American literature at the moment seems to depend upon a few brilliant individuals rather than on the members of a representative school.

Undesired Application. As far as the qualifications of my statement are concerned, America shares with us—the lion's share—that very human attribute of being inclined to look upon imported goods—whether opera singers or novelists—as being essentially good for that reason. In consequence, especially having regard to the higher standard of English used, our mediocrities often receive a greater measure of appreciation than they deserve. Which is why I am writing this.

But when we do take an American writer to our hearts, we take him very close. Much as I hesitate to give names, partly because of a distaste for personalities and partly because of the certainty that many of the most meritorious will escape my memory at this moment, it must be said that there are one or two of these people who have as great a following in my country as they have in this, their own.

There is, for example, James Branch Cabell, in my humble opinion one of the finest living writers of any country. When Mr. Cabell writes, we read. Sometimes, especially when some of his less mature works are launched upon the roller that his remarkable "Jurgen" created, we find that we have wasted our time. But more often we are richly rewarded. The mantle of Rabelais has, I think, descended upon his shoulders, shorn of its lewdly repetitive embroidery, a sober-lured, honest, cloak fashioned alike in sight and sense, and all the implied love for beautiful English that is to be found in superb writing.

Something more than fine writing, too, is to be found in Mr. Sinclair Lewis, and we gratefully buy his books in acknowledgement of the fact. His mordant satire pleases us, even though the more blatant aspects of Babbity pass over our heads; we like to see others laughing at themselves if only because we ourselves so willingly suffer the jibes of Bernard Shaw. For the same reason, Mr. Mencken and his works, whether ephemeral magazine stuff or the more durable boarded variety, find favor in our sight. But I hope that none of us is deceived by his attacks on his own country into thinking that he does not, somehow, very strangely love her.

Virginia Popular. It only because of "The Virginian," we owe much to Mr. Owen Wister. There are very few British boys who have not read one of the finest and most vigorous stories of open-air manhood ever written, and who have read it in later years with an added sense of gratitude. This is not a catalogue, so with one eye on the dwindling space available and the other on a reader's jaws, I will conclude with but two names among the many who deserve mention. One is Mr. Booth Tarkenton, whose "Monsieur Beaucaire" is a delight that is only equalled by his studies of Penrod, the American small boy.

The other is Walt Hines Page. It may well be that I especially, and all of my race are biased. However that may be, his letters stand for us as literature of the best kind; as the expression of one who was always an American and above all an American of the best kind; who therefore—the word "therefore" is used advisedly—found space and time to like us in spite of our gross faults, and to see that there can be no time when anything, but Anglo-American friendship will not be synonymous with criminal and unnecessary folly.

ROADS TO COMPLY WITH LABOR ACT

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Representatives of southeastern railroads, meeting here today as the southeastern conference committee, announced that they desired "to comply fully with all provision of the recently enacted railway labor act" and were willing to submit wage controversies, on which a strike vote is being taken, "to the arbitration procedure provided in that act."

The statement issued by the committee said: "The statements appearing in the press from the heads of the conductors' and trainmen's organizations advise the public that the taking of the strike vote on practically all the roads in the southeastern territory does not necessarily imply that a strike will follow."

"While this is true, all those familiar with matters of this kind know that when a vote in favor of a strike has been taken it creates a serious situation by adding a new and threatening complication."

"The southeastern conference committee, representing the roads involved in this dispute, has been at all times, and is still entirely willing and desirous to comply fully with all the provisions of the recently enacted railway labor act, and to submit the matters in controversy to the arbitration procedure provided by that act."

"The president of the conductors organization is reported in the press as stating that when the strike vote is completed a further conference will be asked with the committee representing the roads. When such conference is held the committee representing the roads will enter it with the sincere hope that the controversy can be settled by reason rather than by force, and that if no amicable settlement can be reached through negotiations between the committees, the orderly processes provided by the present law will be utilized in preference to a return to the era of force."

ROUTE THREE SEEKS HIGHWAY RECOGNITION

Thomas, Ga., January 10.—(Special).—Thomaston Kiwanis club has named a committee to arrange for the entertainment of an inspecting party of the Appalachian Highway system, which will visit Thomaston this week. The local committee is headed by W. H. Hightower with a number of prominent Kiwanians to assist in this entertainment.

This inspection committee will pass over the route from Atlanta to Tampa and the Thomaston citizens are anxious for the scenic highway association to endorse route three.

The routes inspected will include route three through Zebulon, Thomaston, Butler, Americus, Albany, Thomasville to Florida and route seven from Griffin to Barnesville, Forsyth, Macon, Ashburn and Tifton to Florida.

TERRELL COUNTY GETS STATE FUND FOR ROAD

Dawson, Ga., January 10.—(Special).—At a special meeting of the Terrell county board of roads and revenues an agreement was entered into with the state highway department, represented by D. A. Alderman, division engineer of America, to spend $100,000 on a paving project beginning south of Dawson on the Florida short route and going five miles toward Sasser. Terrell county will put up $25,000 of the total amount which when supplemented by the state funds will be matched by the federal department.

The work will be let out by contract as soon as the county bonds can be sold and Judge J. A. Leing, chairman of the local board states that he hopes work will be started about March 1. A $300,000 bond issue was voted by the county last February and will be expended for road paving as quickly as state and federal funds become available.

Buick Ahead Again in the Yellowstone!

Again in 1926, more Buicks toured through Yellowstone Park than any other car except the one of lowest price.

Buick has held this same honor every year since the Park was opened to automobile travel.

This year there were 4,756 Buicks in a total of 44,472 cars registered. 101 different makes were represented in the registrations. One in every ten was a Buick.

Here is convincing evidence of Buick reliability—striking proof of the faith which Buick owners repose in their car.

They know Buick will take them and bring them back comfortably, safely and splendidly—across the Continent—or around the World.

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

(Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

The pointer for today is: Declarer, before playing to the first trick from Dummy, should count his sure tricks and plan how to handle his 26 cards.

When playing a No Trump, the thing for the Declarer to decide before touching a card in Dummy is which suit he intends to develop and from which hand he wishes to lead it first; also whether he intends to win the first trick, and, if so, in which hand. When playing a suit declaration, he should determine whether to lead trumps as soon as he gets in, or to postpone the trump lead so as to utilize one or two of Dummy's trumps for ruffing purposes—see for several days.

Declarer should first find out whether he has enough sure tricks for his contract; if that be easy, he should then estimate his chances for game; if game be assured, he should determine whether his method of procedure is most apt to produce a slam.

All this is quite difficult for the player of little experience and of necessity requires a considerable expenditure of time; success, however, is impossible without it. Therefore, while adversaries may be justified in complaining about undue delay, later on they should willingly concede the time necessary for a reasonable amount of preliminary planning at the beginning of play.

The beginner should not attempt to plan the play of the entire hand before he plays to the first trick—the ability to do such extensive planning comes only with experience—but he should at least count his sure tricks, determine whether his objective is to be contract, game or slam, and plan how to try for whatever number of additional tricks he may need.

Tomorrow we will start the consideration of a most important Bridge topic—the hold-up.

Rich Company Receives First Telephone Photo

Down Fifth avenue in New York, a girl clad in the latest fashion in gowns, and 30 minutes later her picture wearing the new creation is ready for publication in an advertisement for an Atlanta department store. That's one of the marvelous achievements of the new telephoto transfer of photographs used in Atlanta for the first time by M. Rich and Bros. company. In Atlanta newspapers Monday appeared the first reproduction of a commercial photograph ever sent over the new service to Atlanta. The Rich photograph was the first commercial photo sent here, being followed later by news photographs.

The first commercial telephoto ever received in Atlanta was sent to M. Rich and Bros. company by the Edward L. Mayer studios of New York. The photographs were of the season's most exclusive evening gowns. They were received in Atlanta at 8:20 o'clock Monday morning. The original photographs as received over the telephone service were placed on display in the Rich store, where they will remain several days. The two gowns shown in the photographs will be received in a few days and will be displayed on living models as soon as they arrive.

Sending of actual photographs from distant points to Atlanta was demonstrated Sunday before a group of newspapermen and officials of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, and the lines were opened Monday morning for transfer of commercial photographs with the sending of the two photographs to the Rich company by the Mayer studios.

The value of the new service commercially is thus demonstrated, as it will enable such style centers as Rich's to keep in almost instantaneous touch with style centers of the country. Photographs sent to Rich's were perfect in detail and made clear newspaper cuts in the advertisements.

Ralph E. McKnight, Prominent Citizen Of Senoia, Passes

Senoia, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—Ralph E. McKnight, 44, prominent citizen of this city, died at his home here Monday morning following an illness which began last November.

Mr. McKnight, the second son of the late J. A. McKnight, and the late Mrs. Alice Cooke McKnight, was a member of one of the best known families of this section. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Carlton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Carlton, who survives him.

Other survivors are three brothers, Carl C. McKnight, Paul R. McKnight and J. A. McKnight, Jr., and a sister, Miss Margaret McKnight, all of Senoia.

Until early in November Mr. McKnight was actively engaged in business, operating the R. E. McKnight Motor company, and being a member of the mercantile firm of McKnight Brothers. He also controlled large farming interests.

He was a graduate of Georgia Tech and was a member of the First Baptist church.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Tuesday at the Senoia cemetery.

TOOMSBORO-DUBLIN
HIGHWAY IS BUILT

Toombsboro, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—The Wilkinson county convict gang has been stationed in the neighborhood of Toombsboro for the past few months and are working on a project, planned and mapped out by the Toombsboro Chamber of Commerce which has as its object a 30-foot highway from Dublin through Toombsboro to Milledgeville.

The Toombsboro Chamber of Commerce has been at work on this project since early last summer and the Baldwin and Laurens commissioners have agreed to cooperate with this county in the building of this highway. The curves and steep grades have already been eliminated or greatly reduced on the first eight miles from Toombsboro toward Dublin, leaving only three or four miles yet to be built on that end of the line. When completed it will be only about a 45-minute drive from Dublin to Toombsboro.

AGRICULTURAL MEN TO GATHER HERE

The 28th annual convention of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers in Atlanta February 2-4 will be attended by a large number of agricultural leaders of the south and the heads of agriculture in several colleges, according to announcement Monday by Professor E. W. Barre, director of the South Carolina experimental station, who is first vice president and acting secretary of the association.

The general theme of the convention will be "The Elimination of Waste in Agriculture." It was announced, all addresses, by leading agriculturists, will be centered on this subject. Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, is president of the body, while Dr. H. A. Morgan, president of the University of Tennessee, is vice president, and Dr. W. E. Hinds, of Louisiana State university, is secretary.

MUSSOLINI:

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN European Staff Writer of The Atlanta Constitution and The Evening World

Dynamo of Italy. An Intimate Story

A Passionate Lover of Music, the Duce Plays Violin With Considerable Skill—Everybody Listens, All Work Stops.

Melody Is His Inspiration—Also a Poet, He Writes Sonnets of Beauty—A Profile Reader, Dante Being His Favorite.

Mr. Van Paassen has written a series of eighteen articles on Mussolini—the most talked of man in the world. The sixth article in the series follows:

VI.—MUSSOLINI THE ARTIST.

Copyright, 1927, (New York Evening World) Press Publishing Company. Rome, January 10.—There are moments of the day and night when the bustle and roar of the Palazzo Chigi, Mussolini's residence and workshop, suddenly ceases. A reverend hush falls over the building. The army of ushers stops in its tracks. Secretaries and typists tie-tie to the nearest windows. Diplomats cut short their conversation. Everybody listens.

Floating through the air come the sweet tones of a violin. The Duce is playing. First the music is soft and reflects the tiredness of Mussolini's mind. There is a melancholy strain, a soft lamenting wistfulness about the music, but presently it swells in volume. It takes on vigor and force, as if the player were awakening out of a distressing dream. Before the music stops it is a passionate aria that carries the very soul of this extraordinary man on its waves.

The music stops. It stops as suddenly as it has started. And when it has stopped every functionary sits ready at his telephone, for orders are liable to fly thick and fast for the next ten or twenty minutes.

Like all Italians, Mussolini is a passionate lover of music. It may be the sonorous and melodious quality of the Italian language, but when I heard him deliver a speech it seemed to me his voice itself was charged with music. It rose and fell in cadences. It ripped out sentences rhythmically, stopped short, went into a pianissimo and presently gathered force again to go out crashing like the finale of one of Verdi's operas.

When Mussolini plays, the face of the man is transformed. Intense suffering is depicted on it. The eyes are closed and it seems that the sobs that he produces, rise from the depths of his soul. Does he in such moments remember the bitterness and hardships of his early life, perhaps, and does his mind hark back to days spent in vile dungeons, or hunted over the highways of Europe? Does he feel, perhaps, that with all its glitter and pomp his life is a tragedy after all? Who shall tell? Mussolini does not speak of his inmost feelings.

But when the music progresses, Mussolini's face lights up. It takes on an exalted look. He is lifted up spiritually. New strength seems to come to that tired body, and when he lays down the violin and the bow and he opens his eyes again, it seems as if he returned from a long voyage, as if he had looked upon another world.

Music Inspires Him. The Duce's music is his inspiration. Sometimes in the middle of his work he stands up, paces the room and sings full force. One of his comrades at the front told me that even under the blackest circumstances Mussolini was able to sing, to laugh away trouble and to change the whole depressing atmosphere with his light-heartedness.

It is told of Frederick the Great, one of the few really great military men of history, that in the darkest moments of his career he would turn in, produce a flute and play the most entrancing arias. Music meant regeneration to Frederick; it means new life to Benito Mussolini. It makes a new man of him.

Senator Cremonesi, governor of Rome, brother of one of the Pope's most intimate advisers and a member of an old aristocratic Roman family, told me that often in the middle of the night Mussolini sits reading. In an armchair he sits bent over a little girl named Dorothea lies buried there and that she loved Jesus. Mussolini was very much touched when he finally discovered the meaning of the twisted and half worn away words.

A Restless Explorer. When Mussolini is out on these exploring expeditions, which, by the way, are becoming less frequent, he is restless. The ruins plainly irritate him. He would have all that ancient glory restored and encourages every effort that is made to delve up and rebuild that which time and the hand of barbarian hordes has cast down.

But for lack of money and the need of more pressing business, he is far from mourning over the past. He encourages building. He believes that the new renaissance, which was ushered in by the fascist regime, means a renewal of strength of an ancient people. He likes to hear the beat of hammers and the grind of steam shovels on new buildings. When he was editor of the Popolo d'Italia in Milan they were erecting a new building across the way. He neglected his writing work and had to be called back to reality by his secretary from gazing at the builders.

"Ah," he would exclaim, "look, they have another tier of bricks up now. They are working well. They are happy men. They can stand back one of these days and look up and admire their finished handiwork. It is so different with a newspaper writer. Every day he must start anew."

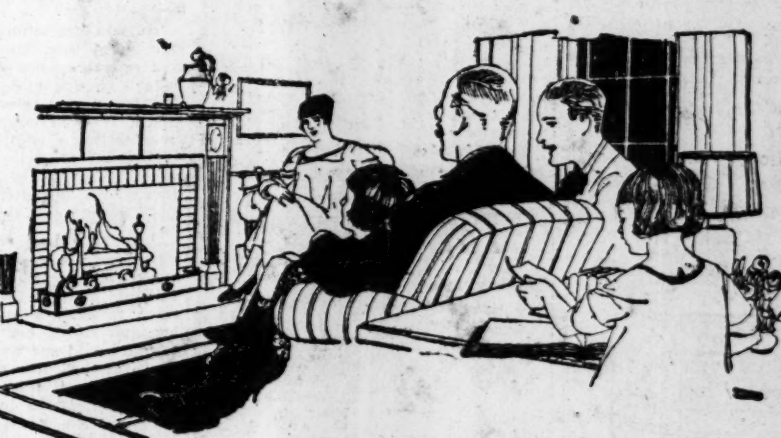

Tomorrow—As a Journalist.

At times he ties his horse and sits gazing somberly at the relics of the past, or he goes exploring in the ravens; he kneels down to decipher half-obliterated and moss-grown inscriptions, scratches the surface of a wall with the butt of his riding whip and reads the time-worn characters.

Father Eusebio, the genial Trappist monk and linguist, who lives near the Catacombs of St. Calixtus, which also are located on the Appian Road, told me that Mussolini was often the only Sunday morning visitor.

"And," said the monk, "Mussolini is a past master at deciphering these pathetic inscriptions. There is one old placard of marble, now restored, which lay broken down on the ground for the fifth story of our underground galleries. Mussolini pieced it together. It tells in simple, classic Latin that

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is a guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(adv.)

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it on time. Rub Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster; does the work without blister.

Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold. You will feel a warmingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

BROOKHART FACES LOBBYING CHARGE

Washington, January 10.—(P)—A new element was injected today into the fight against the confirmation of Cyrus E. Woods, of Pennsylvania, as a member of the interstate commerce commission with presentation to the senate of "rumors" that he had been a lobbyist for Senator-elect Brookhart, of Iowa, as a "paid lobbyist" in an effort to have his nomination confirmed.

Attention of the senate was called to the rumors by Senator Stock, Democrat, Iowa, who won his contest to oust Brookhart at the last session, and an investigation by the interstate commerce commission was ordered after a half hour of debate during which the senate found itself enmeshed in its own ruse.

Woods denies "rumors." Appearing later in the day before the senate committee on commerce, Senator-elect Brookhart, of Pennsylvania, was asked to deny the "rumors" that he had been a lobbyist for Senator-elect Brookhart, of Iowa, as a "paid lobbyist" in an effort to have his nomination confirmed.

The committee had planned to go into the charges at the resumption late today of the Woods' hearings, but Chairman Watson was unable to obtain the attendance of all members and it was agreed that the inquiry should go over until tomorrow. Senator Stock was ready to proceed and Mr. Brookhart was on hand to present a defense, as was Mr. Woods.

All three have been asked to appear tomorrow afternoon and the hearing is expected to continue only one time, after which the committee will take up the Woods nomination in executive session.

Besides the denial made to the committee today by Mr. Woods, Senator Goff, Republican, West Virginia, and other senators who have appeared to argue against the confirmation of the former ambassador to Spain and Japan, declared that they knew nothing of the charges and that none of the coal operators in Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee, who are opposing Woods, was a party to them.

Senator Stock's declaration that there were rumors that Brookhart had been employed by Woods as a lobbyist appeared to take the senate by surprise and there were immediate demands from Senators Reed, Democrat, Missouri, and Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, sponsor for Woods' appointment, that an investigation be made.

The Iowa senator read a telegram which he said he had received from Major Frank J. Lund, who was Brookhart's campaign manager in his successful quest to return to the senate, and J. C. Lewis, president of the Iowa Federation of Labor, asking him to vote for Woods' confirmation. Interrupting Stock, Senator Reed, of Missouri, declared the telegram was "very grave" and should be investigated immediately. Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, in urging an inquiry, declared that the charges "go far beyond the appointment of any one person."

"If anything of that kind is going on it ought to be thoroughly sifted and at once," declared the Missouri senator. "I have no doubt that these charges are not true, but if they are shown to be true, it is our duty to invoke upon the perpetrators of such an act every punishment the law provides."

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, asked Senator Stock if he had discussed the charges with Mr. Brookhart.

"I have not had any conversation with Mr. Brookhart for two years," the Iowa senator said. "I am sure that Senator Reed, of Missouri, finally made a motion to refer the charges to the judiciary committee for investigation, but Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, asked that they go to the interstate commerce committee because it had charge of Woods' nomination. This cut off debate and on a roll call vote, 49 to 33, the Harrison motion prevailed."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN SUED FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Chaplin alleged, her husband's own physician warned him that her condition would not permit her to remain in her home environment and with her own physician signed a statement to that effect. Accordingly she and her mother took another house where they remained for "several months."

On another occasion, after the Chaplins had a stormy scene, a physician appeared in the room. Later the doctor told her, Mrs. Chaplin avers, that he had been retained by Chaplin to be present in the house during the interview in an attempt to obtain proof that she had married Chaplin for his money.

Another time Chaplin is quoted as telling his wife of a "five rooming motion picture woman."

During the first month of their marriage, Mrs. Chaplin asked her husband regarding reports that he was taking "his wonderful woman" but his wife refused, and declares her husband had said:

"If you don't go with me, I'll fix you."

Fearing "bodily harm," Mrs. Chaplin told of fleeing to her grandfather's home but returned to Chaplin's Beverly Hills mansion later in the evening.

The first threat against her life, as told by Mrs. Chaplin, came two weeks after their marriage.

Chaplin had been threatening her with a gun and when she protested, he said:

"It might go crazy some time and kill you."

A second threat was made, she charges, the night of November 29, 1926. A week prior to the divorce, Chaplin's home in the strange case which led to the present divorce case.

After a dispute in which he is said to have demanded that his guests leave at once, he called her into his room.

Here he is alleged to have rushed to a small table by his bed, picked up a pistol and wildly waving his hands declared:

"I will kill you if you dare to leave this house or tell the newspapers anything about this."

Mrs. Chaplin said she ran in terror from the room. On a previous occasion, she suggested to her that she kill herself, she declared.

Throughout their married life, the comedian ridiculed and scoffed at her. For long periods he did not speak to her and when he did, he was of a cruel and insulting nature. He told her of a couple with five children who were not married.

"That is the ideal way for a man and a woman to live together," she quoted him as saying.

Children Unwelcomed.

Not only was the first child of the Chaplin marriage a most unwelcome one to the father, according to the divorce complaint, but the comedian also objected to the second.

"What do you want to do; populate Los Angeles?" he is quoted as asking. For long periods he did not speak to her and when he did, he was of a cruel and insulting nature. He told her of a couple with five children who were not married.

During their entire married life, the comedian ridiculed and scoffed at her. For long periods he did not speak to her and when he did, he was of a cruel and insulting nature. He told her of a couple with five children who were not married.

He is said to have threatened that if she took action without his instructions, he would "do her bodily harm," ruin her reputation, "with the power of his money," and never give her a cent for her support, if he "had to buy purveyed testimony or take his money outside the United States."

"If you get spunky," Mrs. Chaplin said he told her, "and do anything that will reflect on me or cause a scandal, I have enough money to do anything, and I can pay somebody to lie about you if it is necessary to prevent you from getting a cent."

He kept his wife, according to her story, at all times under the surveillance of an "espionage system."

Called Her "Vile Names."

After she had received a call one night from a woman friend, her son and his fiancée, Chaplin returned home and told his wife he had been watching them through a window and berated her and called her vile names. Mrs. Chaplin said she was forced to borrow the lock on the door had been changed in her absence.

Subsequent to leaving the Chaplin mansion last November, the father-in-law charged with failing to pay anything for the support of his two children other than one milk bill of $27. Mrs. Chaplin said she was forced to borrow money from friends and depend on the charity of her parents.

In addition to Chaplin the suit names several business associates and three corporations, the Chaplin Studios, Inc., Charles Chaplin Film Corporation, the United Artists Corporation, in which he has interests. It is charged, first two corporations, that they have organized several years ago for the purpose of "concealing" his property. It is also charged that he maintains several safety deposit boxes which contain his personal property. The suit suggests that to protect properly the wife's interests a receiver should be appointed.

LITA SAYS CHAPLIN IS WORTH $16,000,000.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Los Angeles, Calif., January 10.—Mrs. Lita Gray Chaplin, 38-year-old wife of the movie comedian, today filed suit for divorce in Los Angeles county court.

On solicitation of her attorneys, Presiding Judge Walton J. Wood, of Los Angeles county, court, tonight issued an order restraining Chaplin, his business associates, and any of the corporations or bank mentioned in Mrs. Chaplin's divorce complaint, from cashing checks, converting holdings, transferring any of the comedian's funds, permitting the withdrawal of any moneys, or allowing future properties to be taken out of the state.

Mrs. Chaplin's suit estimates the comedian's fortune at $10,000,000 in community property which she stipulates is made up of real estate, stocks, bonds and other securities, money, personal property, moving picture rights and income. In addition to this $10,000,000 her papers show that Chaplin has a separate fortune of $8,000,000 and the 18-year-old girl who was attending a Hollywood secretarial school less than three years ago, asks that a receiver be appointed to account for the assets and other wealth and divide and assign the community property, according to California law.

Pending the settlement of her suit, Mrs. Chaplin demands counsel, court and prosecution allotment to pursue her suit, money to keep herself and children in the style to which they have been accustomed and a court order restraining Chaplin from seeing or communicating with her.

According to the language in Mrs. Chaplin's complaint, "during the first month of their marriage and while the plaintiff was pregnant, the defendant was made aware that the defendant was spending a great deal of time in company with a certain prominent motion picture actress."

"The defendant asked her husband if this were true, and he bluntly and boastfully said: 'Yes, it is true, and I am in love with her and I don't care who knows it. I want to see her when I want to and whether you like it or not. I don't love you and I am only living with you because I had to make money to compete with her.'"

The motion picture actress is not mentioned by name.

CHAPLIN TO COMPLETE PICTURE IN NEW YORK.

New York, January 10.—(P)—Charlie Chaplin, movie comedian, reported to have left Los Angeles for New York on "important business," is coming here to complete the filming of his latest picture due for release this month, Nathan Berkman, New York attorney, said tonight.

Mr. Berkman said that Chaplin's suit for damages and for an injunction against the Pictorial Review company, because of a series of articles written by the magazine about the comedian, comes up for a hearing on Friday in New York.

The lawyer said he did not know Chaplin was en route to New York or when to expect him here. In reply to questions, Mr. Berkman said "Chaplin will not go to Paris; I think he is coming here to complete the filming of his picture is completed and released."

suffering from serious injuries and several deaths were reported.

Investigation Is Under Way.

Meanwhile, investigation as to the culpability of the proprietors of the theater revealed the fact that only four of the young victims were accompanied by adults.

Quebec law requires that children attending such performances must be accompanied by adults, and accordingly the coroner's charge to his jury contained the statement that the management "obviously had violated the law."

A relief fund for families of the victims, destined to reach $10,000 at least, was started by Coroner McMahon.

Twenty-four hours after the tragedy, a few parents still sought vainly for their children—unidentified victims of the panic. School bells rang in answer to the summons. A number of deaths hung over the neighborhood.

Children who had flocked joyously to the theater on the special occasion of a Sunday show for their benefit either were victims of the panic or were jealously guarded in their homes today.

Cathedral bells will peal on Wednesday for those who perished. But the tragic procession of parents who struggled to the hospitals and to the morgue is at an end. The toll of fire and panic has been counted, except as some of those trampled and injured join the list of dead.

Already in mourning for her mother who died only a few months ago, Mrs. Prosper Martel lost her two little girls, Yvonne, 7, and Etienne, 8. Her eyes, beneath her mourning veil, seemed to be still seeking for her children. A boy, Philip, 13, had accompanied the little girls to the theater; he found his mother in a hospital and today they will bring him home.

"My wife left the children with me," Mrs. Martel said. "I don't know how to tell her when she comes back," stammered Joseph Hétu, who had just found his 8-year-old Gilbert among the dead children in the theater. He is still looking for Adrienne. He isn't down there, thank God.

Two women, each with a daughter who had been at the scene of the tragedy, sat together on a bench in the corner of the court. They tried to console one another. The had found her daughter missing after the fire. The other, whose daughter was safe at home, came with her friend to the morgue, to support her in case of need, and offer what comfort she could.

Emile Raymond, 17, is alive, thanks to the determination of his father, Joseph Raymond, who, knowing that his son was in the theater when the alarm sounded, rushed to the theater, and making his way against the mob that was fleeing to the street, reached a ghastly heap of youngsters, most of them dead, others badly injured and some unconscious.

Son Is Found.

Digging his way to the bottom of the pile, Raymond found his son, who had been at the scene of the tragedy, and he was able to bring him home.

Snatching his son, Raymond ran to the sidewalk, where Emile and his sister, who had been at the scene of the tragedy, were lying. He could see nothing. After a short search, he found his son, who had been at the scene of the tragedy, and he was able to bring him home.

He told his father that he could see nothing. After a short search, he found his son, who had been at the scene of the tragedy, and he was able to bring him home.

Seat Sale for Frieda Hempel Concert Opens This Morning

Seats for the Frieda Hempel concert, to be given at the auditorium next Friday night, will go on sale promptly at 9 o'clock this morning at Phillips & Crew Piano company, 181 Peachtree street. The Southern Musical bureau, under whose auspices the famous soprano, known as the "modern Jenny Lind," is brought here, announces that there has been an exceptionally heavy order made and that it is advisable to make reservations as early as possible.

Miss Hempel, one of Atlanta's prime favorites among sopranos, has not sung here since 1920, and not only is she much loved by people from all over the southeast, she is taking advantage of the opportunity to again hear her marvelous voice. Miss Hempel is famous, not alone for her voice the week-end of the Mercantile Bank and Trust company with resources in excess of $50,000,000.

"The block-long line held firm. Most of those in line were women. Many had been shivering in the cold since 7 a. m. when the front door of the bank looked like the Yankee stadium on world series opening day. Enterprising small boys were selling hot coffee and sandwiches."

Mitchell continued his speech while two tellers with aching fingers continued to dole out cash and currency to the shuffling line.

He explained the vast wealth and resources now behind the Broadway Central and said that his own bank had bought the institution after examination by United Review and had reported it absolutely sound.

Mitchell closed with a statement that every demand by depositors would be met and advised them not to withdraw their funds.

Several in the line had previously made deposits instead of withdrawals as gestures of confidence, but their faith was negligible on the fearful line.

$1,000 Is Deposited.

Thomas O'Reilly, alderman of the district in which the bank is located, for a long wait in the line, and deposited $1,000.

An announcement was circulated from Frank H. Warder, state superintendent of banks, that the Broadway Central by the old and prosperous Central Mercantile Bank and Trust company had been formally approved by the state banking department.

But the depositors were busy adding a new luster to Broadway's reputation as a money center. With all this and $2,000,000 before their eyes, they continued to shiver in line to withdraw their deposits.

POISONED LIQUOR HIT IN NEW YORK GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Albany, January 10.—The government's practice of using poison in dealing with alcohol was denounced on the floor of the New York general assembly tonight.

Introduction by Assemblyman Maurice Block, Democratic leader, of a resolution memorializing Congress to act legislation that would end the use of poison, precipitated a spirited legislative battle.

"The republican party ought to take down the eagle," Block declared, "and put a skull and bones in its place; if they are going to continue the practice of poisoning intoxicating liquors and intentionally killing American citizens."

Assemblyman O'Connell, of New York, introduced a resolution over-riding the action of the assembly in asking Congress to modify the Volstead act. The assembly will debate it tomorrow.

Another resolution requesting Congress to end the poisoning of alcohol intended for industrial purposes was introduced by Assemblyman Phelps, Republican, of New York city. Phelps' resolution specifically requested the New York congressional delegation to support legislation modifying the Volstead act.

FUNERAL AT GRAY FOR MRS. FRANCES ROSS

Gray, Ga., January 10.—(Special.) Mrs. Frances E. Ross, one of the most prominent women of Jones county, died at her home in Clinton early this morning after an illness of two weeks. She was 81 years of age and had been a woman of remarkable vitality all her life until stricken with paralysis a few years ago.

Mrs. Ross before marriage was Miss Frances Morgan. Her husband, Judge R. T. Ross, for 35 years was ordinary of Jones county and died several years ago. She belonged to one of the old families of middle Georgia and her home was noted for its hospitality.

She was a member of the Methodist church, an outstanding part in all the affairs of her church and was noted for her charity.

Her funeral was held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Clinton church, being conducted by Rev. J. P. Davis of Gray, and Rev. W. T. Ellis, of Macon.

Mrs. Ross is survived by two sons, R. B. Ross and J. M. Ross, of Jones county; two sisters, Mrs. A. J. Davis of Gray, and Mrs. Helen Holsenbeck, of Macon. A daughter, Mrs. J. J. Smith, died in Atlanta two years ago.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger, by using a simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbosine and 14 out of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—(adv.)

It's Hard to "Catch" Cold if You take Kok-Lax

"Show me a person who catches cold easily—and I will show you one whose intestines are clogged with poisonous wastes," says a noted authority.

He is right! Simply keep your bowels thoroughly cleaned out and your system purified by taking Kok-Lax regularly—chances are you will never catch a cold.

Kok-Lax is the new treatment that completely cleans out all the clogged wastes in your 28-foot canal. When you do this a cold hasn't much chance of taking hold. But if you do catch a cold, get your system cleaned of all the clogged wastes with this wonderful constipating medicine. It works so quickly you feel all right again.

Kok-Lax is the new, improved treatment. Everybody is taking it regularly—chances are you are not. It is so pleasant—no nausea, no griping—and yet you are thoroughly cleaned out and feel fine.

Kok-Lax at Cone's five good drug stores or any other druggist.—(adv.)

LATIN AMERICAN LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Mexico City, January 10.—With its object a protest against the attitude of the United States government in Latin America, the Central and South American union has been organized in Mexico City. It is composed of Central and South Americans living here. The program outlined for the organization at its opening meeting included: Sponsoring of demonstrations against the policy of the United States in Latin America; exhibition to the world of agreement of South and Central Americans with the Mexican government and the "legitimate" government of Juan Bautista Sacasa in Nicaragua; dispatches of protest to President Coolidge over landing of American marines in Nicaragua and dispatch of messages of congratulations to a group of senators and one congressman for their "defense of international justice."

The speakers named were Copeland of New York; Barn, of Idaho; Wheeler, of Montana; Reed, of Missouri; Heflin, of Alabama, and Norris, of Nebraska. Representative Huddleston, of Alabama, also was named.

THOMAS G. SELMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Thomas G. Selman, prominent banker and cashier of the Farmers and Traders National bank of Rockmart, and a cousin of Joe M. Selman, assistant cashier of the Fulton National bank, and Dr. W. A. Selman, of this city, died Monday night at a private hospital following an illness of less than a week.

Mr. Selman was taken suddenly ill last Thursday at his home in Rockmart and was brought to a local hospital Saturday afternoon. An operation for appendicitis was performed last Saturday afternoon after the operation his condition grew worse until the end came Monday night.

A native of Douglasville, Mr. Selman moved to Rockmart more than 12 years ago and became connected with the Farmers and Traders bank. He had been its cashier for several years and was prominently connected in banking circles in that city.

The body of Mr. Selman will be taken to Rockmart this morning at 6:30 o'clock, where funeral services will be held at a time to be announced later. Sam R. Greenberg and company in charge.

Mr. Selman is survived by his widow, who formerly was Miss Hen Lane, of Rockmart; four sons, Glenn, Stewart, Jack and Robert Selman, all of Rockmart; and a daughter, Mrs. P. H. Selman, of Douglasville; a sister, Mrs. E. M. Stewart, of Douglasville, and three brothers, H. P. Selman, of Detroit; Dr. O. A. Selman, of Summerville, and C. F. Selman, of Douglasville.

IT'S NEVER PERMANENT. A "lame duck" never is so lame that he can't waddle up to the political patronage trough.

WHO REMEMBERS. When nearly everybody predicted that delivering mail to the farmers would break the government?

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are the formula of Dr. J. J. Blosser, M.D., and are composed of medicinal flowers, herbs and berries.

Cigarettes contain no tobacco, no cubes, nothing habit-forming, and are entirely harmless. They are used by women and children as well as men.

It is so simple to inhale this pleasant and soothing smoke. Much more convenient than using sprays, washes, douches, etc.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritation or frequent colds, get from any druggist a convenient pocket size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.—(adv.)

Spend your winter at CORAL GABLES Florida

Wonder city of America's Only Tropics

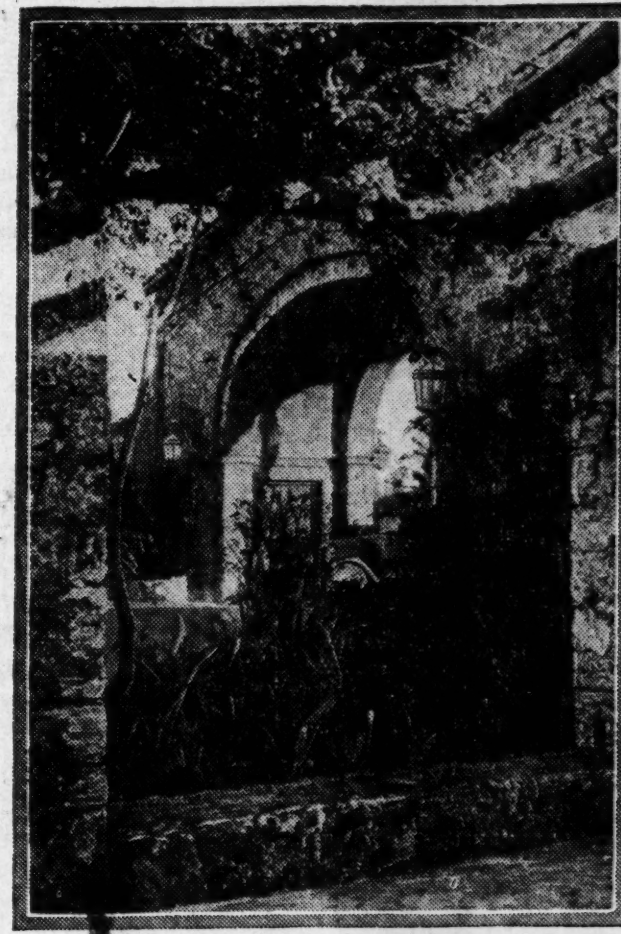

A portion of the terrace of the magnificent Miami-Biltmore Hotel. Coral Gables has six modern hotels.

Part of the Miami-Biltmore Country Club, which has all modern facilities, including tennis courts, great outdoor swimming pool and two 18-hole golf courses.

Granada Entrance to Coral Gables—one of four such entrances, each a masterpiece of architectural and tropical beauty.

This is the Colonnade Building, the newest business structure now being completed in Coral Gables.

These photographs depict Coral Gables December 1, 1926

WHILE the north wind moans and whines—think! Is the unloveliness and desolation of winter's icy grasp worth enduring if you can escape it?

Less than 40 hours away from 75 per cent of America's people it is summer-time. The sun is shining and it's warm in Coral Gables, the Miami Riviera. Here in the Only American Tropics sun-browned people of all ages are gaining health and energy swimming, golfing, horseback riding, playing tennis, motoring, and doing all the pleasant things you would do in summer.

But Coral Gables offers you the opportunity to enjoy much more than climate. It is unique among modern cities. Conceived by its founder as an ideal, it has grown in an atmosphere of idealism proved practical beyond doubt by its progress. Five years ago it was an expanse of high land studded with pine trees and fruit groves. Today it is an established city with an approximate population of 10,000 people. It is a balanced city—with a thriving business community; homes, both modest and more pretentious; every facility of modern times for health and public safety; education from kindergarten to university in nine public and private institutions; culture and religion in university, clubs and eight church congregations; and social and fraternal organizations.

Sheer beauty is the dominant characteristic of Coral Gables. Planned and developed under the rigid supervision of nationally known city planners, artists and architects, it has been built in perfect harmony at a cost of approximately $150,000,000. The architecture of old Spain and the Mediterranean has been modernized and transplanted until today Coral Gables is a beautiful old-world city in a new-world setting—a gem in a setting of loveliness impossible in America outside of its only tropics.

In art, in architecture, in planning, in tropical landscaping, and in all its institutions, there is a quality of ordered refinement, beauty, service and undeniable permanency of tremendous appeal. Spend your winter in Coral Gables in warmth and comfort. Spend it here in an atmosphere of culture and enjoyment where you will find endless opportunity to study all phases of this modern marvel of American city building.

Coral Gables has six splendid hotels, dominated by the magnificent $10,000,000 Miami-Biltmore with its architectural feature, a replica of the Giralda Tower of the famous old Sevilla Cathedral. In any of these hotels, or the hundred apartment houses, you will find accommodations to your taste and a range of prices to suit every pocketbook.

OFFICER EXONERATED
IN SHOOTING OF NEGRO

A negro man who was killed by Patrolman George W. Caldwell Monday while resisting arrest in an alleged "notorious hangout" in Raspberry alley, was identified Monday afternoon as Willie Collins, of 191 Gilmer street, a suspect in more than a dozen daring holdups staged Saturday night. At an inquest held Monday a verdict of "justifiable homicide" was returned.

The negro was surprised in a house in Raspberry alley and when Patrolman L. C. Jones attempted to arrest him, he snapped his gun twice and fled through an open window. As he came out, Officer Caldwell commanded him to stop, and when he failed to do so, the officer fired. The negro died within a few minutes, his gun clutched firmly in his hand.

B. T. JONES FUNERAL
DELAYED UNTIL TODAY

Funeral services for B. T. Jones, 60, of 383 West Lake avenue, who died Saturday at Greenville, S. C., will be held this afternoon from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. W. M. Albert will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery.

The funeral services were scheduled to be held Monday afternoon but were postponed pending arrival of relatives.

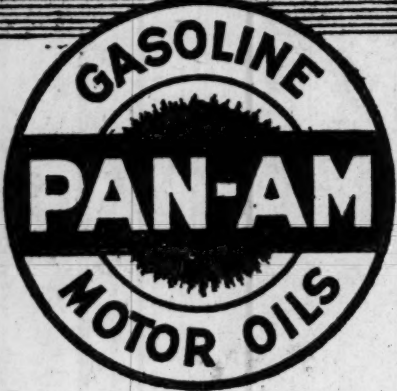

How Doctors Treat
Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold overnight or cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

THERE are more reasons than the unvarying high quality of the gasoline and oil why thousands of motorists are switching to Pan-Am.

Throughout the South, people have been quick to appreciate the advantages of dealing with men on whom they can depend.

Pan-Am dealers deserve this confidence because every one of them is vouched for by neighbors who have known him all

Radio Fans To See
As Well as Hear
Entertainers Soon

New York, January 10.—In a short time radio fans will be able to see as well as hear their favorite broadcasting artists, according to a prediction by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric company and the Radio Corporation of America.

Transmission of photographs will soon be a regular feature of radio programs. Dr. Alexanderson told the annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers Monday night.

Several photographs broadcast by Station WGY and picked up by Dr. Alexanderson with his television apparatus, were exhibited. He demonstrated a model of his television instrument and explained how it produces an image to cover a motion picture screen. The apparatus was small and indicated that television is among the possibilities of the future.

Probably the most difficult problem in radio photography is that of synchronization between the light and the sound, the engineer said.

Great progress has been made in recent years in this field, however, and now "it would be possible to operate large power stations in Europe and America in synchronism linked by radio," said Dr. Alexanderson.

The standard oscillograph is well adapted for picture recording and makes unnecessary the development of any new device for this purpose, he said. If radio photography becomes popular among amateurs a small mirror adapted to a head phone is foreseen as a popular recording instrument.

When more fully developed it will be possible to transmit pictures three by four inches, or 12 square inches, in 10 seconds. Various methods of broadcasting by Dr. Alexanderson, who favored the continuous wave modulation process as giving more efficiency of detection and comparative freedom from static.

The process of translating halftones into electricity and electricity back into halftones has been solved, Dr. Alexanderson said.

BARNESVILLE CHURCH
WELCOMES NEW PASTOR

Barnesville, Ga., January 10.—(Special.)—A welcome service for Rev. Henry T. Brookshire, of Atlanta, the new pastor of the First Baptist church here, was held Sunday evening, all congregations of the city participating in the service. Rev. Brookshire has been pastor of the Woodward Avenue church in Atlanta for the past four years.

Talks were made by Professor J. D. Smith, representing the community; Rev. J. J. Brannon, pastor of the First Methodist church; Rev. H. H. Jones, Congregational pastor; Colonel Harvey J. Kennedy, for the men of the Baptist church; and Mrs. L. A. Collier, for the women of the church.

Brookshire responded with a talk. He succeeds Rev. Arthur H. Jones, who recently went to the First Baptist church of Hendersonville, N. C.

No Cold
In 5 Yrs.

The writer has not had a cold in five years. He catches colds from tastes, just as others do. But at the first sneeze he takes HILL'S. I have proved that colds do not develop when one does that.

But there are other things that millions know. HILL'S checks a cold in 24 hours after it has developed. It ends the fever, opens the bowels, tones the entire system. It leaves one feeling better than when the cold began.

HILL'S combines four of the greatest helps modern science has discovered. It was perfected by one of the world's largest laboratories. It is so efficient, so well-proved that the present owners paid $1,000,000 for it.

Nobody who knows what HILL'S can do will ever use a lesser help. Nor will they delay.

ATLANTA FAVORED
AS AERIAL CENTER

If the city government consents to illuminate Candler field, Atlanta stands a 90 to one chance of becoming the southern center of aerial mail service within the next six months.

This was the opinion expressed by William McCracken, assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aviation, during the course of a speech Monday night at a banquet in his honor at the Capital City club. Prior to the banquet Mr. McCracken was met at the Birmingham Athletic club by Governor-elect Hardman, members of the Fulton county board and city council and about twenty other prominent men of the city.

"Four things have to be settled before the proposed air route can be put into operation," Mr. McCracken said. "First the municipalities must agree to light their air fields. This is particularly important for Atlanta. Second, a contractor must be procured to agree to fly the route. This will be known as the 'Birmingham-Boston' federal government must light emergency and other fields between here and New York. All that remains then is to use the route."

Mr. McCracken said there is a possibility of the Florida-Atlanta route being resumed if a route is put in operation from New York to Miami, on one line to New Orleans and on another to Chicago and thence west. Mr. McCracken added that there is a chance of Birmingham being skipped and Atlanta taking the entire burden of air traffic in the south.

The entire proposition is up to Atlanta, Mr. McCracken said. "If your city does its part of the work I am sure the government will not hesitate, in doing the rest. You have a mighty active bunch of fellows here and there is no reason why you should not have the entire town on its toes with enthusiasm over a New York-Atlanta air route. If the Atlanta city council takes the desired action, I predict service from the government by next July. In the meantime, I am asking $450,000 appropriation to take care of the preliminaries. The territory between here and New York offers every advantage for landing fields, he said.

Mr. McCracken will leave for Birmingham Tuesday morning to confer with city officials there in regard to the chances of having an aerial junction in that place.

HINDENBURG ASKS
CABINET TO FORM

Berlin, January 10.—Dr. Julius Curtius, leading member of Foreign Minister Stresemann's folks party, was today asked by President Hindenburg to form a cabinet.

Hindenburg's choice of Dr. Curtius to succeed Chancellor Wilhelm Marx, who holds the premiership pending formation of a new cabinet, was a surprise to German statesmen.

It was believed that the president's consideration of candidates was just beginning. Dr. Curtius has been justly opposed by Catholic leaders.

The appointment followed a conference between the president and President Loeb of the Reichstag.

'Very Sorry,'
Says Carroll,
His Case Lost

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—"I am very sorry," was all the comment Earl Carroll had to make today when informed that he had lost his case in the New York courts. He said he would consult his counsel before issuing any further statement.

Carroll, theatrical producer, lost his appeal today from a sentence of a year and a day in Atlanta penitentiary for perjury committed in connection with grand jury investigation of a "bath tub party" in his theater. United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed both the verdict of guilty and the sentence imposed by the low court.

Carroll was brought to trial last spring after newspaper stories had been printed saying that at a Washington birthday party at the Earl Carroll theater, Joyce Hawley, a show girl, had served champagne to male guests from a bathtub on the stage in which she was seated undressed.

Before two grand juries, Carroll swore that no one had occupied the bathtub and that the beverage it contained was not intoxicating. Four counts of perjury were laid against him and he was found guilty of the two counts which related to his telling the grand juries that no one occupied the tubs made to run concurrently. He was released in $5,000 bail pending in the appeal which ended in his defeat today.

The party took place shortly after the Countess Cathcart had gained admission to this country after being detained at Ellis Island on a charge of moral turpitude. Carroll at the time was preparing to produce her play, "Ashes of Love," and she was one of the principal guests at the party. Other prominent persons reported to have attended the party included Irvin S. Cobb, Harry Shaw, Condy Nast and Al Jolson. Jolson and Cobb were among the witnesses called in Carroll's behalf at the trial.

The principal witness was Miss Hawley herself, who told in detail of being led across the stage to the bathtub by Carroll and helped into the tub.

Called the bathtub. He was found not guilty in telling the same jury that no liquor was served at the party. He was fined $2,000 and sentenced to a year and a day on each count.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS
TO AID IN FIGHT
ON SPREAD OF FLU

Geneva, January 10.—Increase of influenza cases in many parts of the world caused the League of Nations secretariat to arrange today to make daily radio broadcasts on the growth of the epidemic.

Information as to the number of cases in each country and the character and extent of the epidemic will be collected by the league's hygienic service from health administrative bodies in all countries.

JACKSONVILLE
1927 OUTFIT

Jacksonville, Fla., January 10.—(AP) Jacksonville's candidates for southeastern league honors probably will number no more than half a dozen new men, it was predicted here today with the announcement of President Charles E. Bates' team. The holders are: Ray Nass, outfielder; Freddie Heck, outfielder; Johnnie Bates, pitcher; Arnold Townsend, catcher; "Bud" Ammons, first baseman; Bill Narlesky, second baseman; Elmer Purcell, pitcher; Jake Hehl, pitcher, and Cooper, pitcher.

Ben Cantwell, pitcher, and Al Lopez, catcher, were drafted from the Florida State league.

The signing of Tommy McMillan as manager has taken care of the shortstop position.

Within the next few weeks several more men will be signed for tryouts with chances for permanent berths described as poor.

The machine now looks to be short two pitchers, a catcher, a third baseman and two infielders.

Four spring exhibition games, it was announced, three of them with the major league teams, will necessitate the beginning of spring training earlier than usual.

FUGAZY SAYS
GENE AFRAID OF DELANEY

BY FRANK GETTY.

New York, January 10.—The charge that Gene Tunney is afraid of Jack Delaney and has deliberately run out on a match with the Bridgeport boxer made Monday by Humbert J. Fugazy, New York promoter.

Delaney himself, and his manager, Pete Reilly, were in Fugazy's Broadway office when the promoter accused the present heavyweight champion of dodging a proposed bout with the French-Canadian.

Declaring he had had an agreement whereby Tunney was to box under his auspices, until Delaney was named as the opponent, Fugazy asserted that Gene was looking for a "softer" opponent, than the flaming fighting light-heavyweight titleholder.

Tex Rickard succeeded in signing Tunney in St. Louis, the rival promoter declared, because he was unworthy champion a choice of opponents whom Gene believed he could defeat.

Jack Delaney was not among them. "Tunney gave me his word that he was open to my proposition," said Fugazy. "He even told me that he felt Rickard had treated him unfairly at Philadelphia and that he hoped I would be the promoter of his next fight. He called Rickard names and showed clearly that he was through with Tex."

"Until our meeting in the Hotel Bredin on December 30, I am satisfied that I had a better chance than Rickard to land the bout. I had offered Gene $575,000 as a guarantee and 50 per cent of everything over the first million dollars."

"When I named Jack Delaney as the challenger, everything was off. Tunney went away and signed with Rickard."

Pete Reilly and Jack Delaney wandered in while the Italian financier was offering this unique explanation as to the St. Louis affair.

Jack looked in "the pink." He has built himself up until he appears a real heavyweight contender. It is his intention to pound Tunney until he gets a shot at the heavyweight title, even if he relinquishes his present light-heavyweight championship in the meantime.

Of course, Fugazy's assertion that fear of Delaney was the one reason why Gene signed with Rickard is probably not the whole truth. Tunney knows which side his bread is buttered on, and Tex Rickard has lots of butter.

Rickard, questioned about Fugazy's assertion, said that it was unworthy of consideration, because, he added, if Delaney could prove himself the best of the contenders, Tex himself would match him with the heavyweight champion.

"Delaney says Tunney is afraid of him. Let him come out and fight some of the other good men and see if he is the logical contender," said Rickard.

COLE, BASTON
WIN HANDBALL
TILTS EASILY

Fred Cole, champion handball player of Central Y. M. C. A. and W. S. "Shirley" Boston, runner-up, journeyed to Athens and won two matches from the champions of the Athens Y. M. C. A. This was the first inter-Y. M. C. A. match the locals have participated in since the annual tournament, recently.

Fred Cole had a little trouble getting used to the strange court. He had a little trouble getting used to the strange court. He had a little trouble getting used to the strange court. He had a little trouble getting used to the strange court.

After allowing Tutwiler to run a score of 19-12 Cole ran the game. Cole usually does, and won the game, 21-19. After the first tussle Cole hit his stride and was very stingy with points in the next three contests, winning them by the scores of 21-6; 21-0; 21-12.

"Shirley" Boston had an even easier time dispatching his opponent, Mr. Lanier, runner-up in the Athens tournament. The temperamental Boston played his usual careless style of handball, which always has a bad psychological effect on his opponent. Boston won his four games by the scores of 21-5; 21-13; 21-12; and 21-0.

A return match in Atlanta will be arranged sometime in the near future. The local handballers bid fair to winning the title as champions of Georgia.

Ray Parmely Has Fighting Chance

Tampa, Fla., January 10.—(AP)—Although he has been unconscious four days physicians attending Ray Parmely, sports editor of The Tampa Times, declared this afternoon that he has a chance for recovery.

Parmely is suffering with concussion of the brain as the result of an automobile accident here last Thursday in which J. Watson Morse, staff photographer for the same newspaper, was fatally injured.

Mitchell Loses Title.

Toronto, January 10.—(AP)—Unable to come out for the ninth round because of a broken leg, Tommy Mitchell, Toronto, lost the Canadian light-heavyweight championship tonight on a technical knockout to Cliff Graham. Mitchell weighed 134 1/2 and Graham 134.

The Ragged Edge

By HENRY C. ROWLAND.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

BENGAL IS HIT.

Bengal continued to argue with Carillon. "Your jewel mania is not thievery. It's a mental defect, and every mental defect has its remedy. If one can find it."

"That devil's ace of an 'it.' Everything's been tried. I've been reasoned with, the best in me appealed to, prayed over by Christian healers, even had treatments of psycho-therapy by a specialist in Paris. He tried hypnotism, but it wouldn't work. It acted as a stimulant, an irritant, and made me hungrier than ever for beautiful glowing gems..." Her voice came breathlessly. "The more my mind is centered on them the worse it gets, no matter how great the effort. It's no good. Everything's been tried."

Bengal leaned back against the rocky wall. "Everything but me. Try me, Carillon. If I were your husband I would be always close to fight off this devil that torments you."

"No, the risk is too great, Bungle, darling. You can fight and kill acquired vices, but not hereditary ones."

He managed to roll slowly over.

"But you can," Bengal protested, violently. "Don't try to tell me that the vice of an unscrupulous ancestor is so strongly planted that it can't be torn out and stalk by a living man who loves you as I do. Mankind has always struggled under hereditary curses of some sort, and it's struggled up. If the fear of them had kept the race from living and loving, it would have died out long ago. Might as well admit that Bad is stronger than Good, the Powers of Darkness stronger than the Powers of Light. And Love is Light. Carillon, let us try..."

He was standing with his back against the limestone wall, which was at this point fairly smooth. Carillon, facing him with her eyes fixed on his and breathing from the strain of this moral struggle against both Bengal and her inclination, seemed for the moment on the point of capitulation. She was of the sort in which strength seems to come in waves, rather than as a constant, steady force. One of them swept her now, as she stared at Bengal's tormented face.

"No," she said, with a quiet finality. "I can't argue, Bengal. I can only repeat that I love you far too much."

Bengal perceived that he had lost. An overpowering fatigue enveloped him. His head felt all at once like a dead weight, a cannon ball, poised on a gate-post, no more power of reason left in it. This inertia extended to his limbs. In his momentary weakness he let his head go back to rest against the wall of rock.

As he did so, the cavern was filled with a thundering detonation. Bengal's body crumpled, sagged, sank down formlessly to the fine white sand.

After a period of blank oblivion, which even his animal sense of elapsed time failed to measure, Bengal became conscious of tremendous reverberations, great guns in action and volleys at intervals that were irregular.

These concussions seemed to locate him. He was back in Flanders fighting with the unit he had joined in Canada before America's entry in the great war. Wounded again, evidently, this time somewhere in the head. It seemed to him also that only one ear was registering the sound of firing.

A sharp, agonized yell rang out from somewhere not far away. Another casualty to be added to the score of millions. What price all the work that goes into the makings of a real man? What's the good of anything? Nothing.

Bengal opened one eye, tentatively. Sight was still with him, though dusky. He tried the other. That was a working model, too, but recording dimly, like its mate. All he could see was the pale gray stonework of whatever place he was in, or behind. The side of a demolished building, or the wall enclosing the park of a chateau. The same sort of stone, weather pitted and scaling where the frosts of winter soak in to chip and to scar. It must be nearly nightfall. Too warm for early morning.

He closed both eyes and rested. The firing stopped. Bengal felt curiously indifferent as to where he might be hit, or how badly. This heavenly repose was worth it. He felt no pain, felt nothing much at all except a pleasant lassitude. But this was not what he wanted. He wanted, yet not directly associated with the battlefield. There, one heard anguished cries of every sort from the hoarse bellows of stricken giants to the tenuous whimpers of hurt children, but never anything like this, the low, heartbroken sobbing of a woman.

It seemed also to be close beside him. Here was something that did not fit at all into the dim gray somber picture, unless some of his crowd and he had been fighting in a house from which the occupants had been unable to flee. That happened occasionally. They waited too long, until cut off by an encircling movement; or like horses which rush back into a blazing barn, their homing instinct was too strong.

The low sobbing continued, a hushed abandonment to grief and to despair. It began to rouse in Bengal two stimulant emotions, curiosity, and the urge to help this girl or woman in distress. He tested his motor centers, and the muscles responded to the extent of tautening and stretching. Fair enough, Bengal thought, for a man shot in the head. His ability to think at all was rapidly returning. No paralysis at any rate, and his head was beginning to smart and to ache just above his ear. A glancing blow, perhaps, or an éclat or fragment of stone or something.

He managed to roll slowly over, so as to face whoever was sobbing like that. In the deepening gloom a singular picture was presented his rousing faculties. Kneeling there beside him was a figure clad in what looked to be a loose blue serge coat that was much too long, sleeves rolled back over white, glistening forearms and holding an army rifle that rested on a shelf of rock. The profile of this astonishing combatant was outlined with cameo fineness against the dark background beyond, and his first glance at the pure and delicate tracery of features, vertical forehead, nose and lips that might have claimed a classic perfection but for an impalpable upward thrusting, and a resolute chin to match, in the same vertical as the forehead, all combined to bring back Bengal's scattered senses with a rush.

Still, his amazement was such that for a moment or two he lay quite still, watching and wondering. He perceived that here had been a stealthy and partially successful attack. He had been bowled over, stunned, when Carillon, snatching up the rifle, had defended their position, and successfully. Boyd had mentioned casually, when showing his armament, that his sister was a fine shot. Bengal remembered the yell that had partially aroused him, and believed that she must have scored once, at least.

Carillon had likened him to a neolithic man. Well, then, so was she a woman of the Stone Age, for all her later garnishings. Cornered there in their sea cave, old instincts had revived, as she fought over the body of her stricken mate, for in soul at least, Bengal was that. He wondered vaguely now if such cave girls sobbed quietly as they fought when believing this mate to be cut clay. No doubt they did. The tragedies of the ages would seem to have changed only in their added complications.

Stringfellow-Arkwright Bridal Party Honored Monday Evening

Judge and Mrs. Walter Colquitt entertained at an elaborate dinner party Monday evening at their home on Ponce de Leon avenue in compliment to Miss Ann Stringfellow and Preston Arkwright, Jr., whose marriage will be a brilliant event of this evening, the occasion following the wedding rehearsal. The guests were seated at four large tables, which were beautifully appointed. The table at which the bride party was seated was overlaid with an exquisite point de Venise cloth. The color motif of green and white was effectively and beautifully carried out in the decoration of the table. In the center was a green crystal bowl filled with valley lilies and white rosebuds. Green candlesticks, holding white burning tapers, surrounded the central decoration. The guests' places were marked by tiny silver white cards bearing the hosts' monograms in silver, while tiny silver bells and clusters of orange blossoms added to the daintiness of the cards. The bride-elect's place was marked by a miniature bride surrounded by a group of miniature bridesmaids wearing pastel shaded gowns. At each of the groomsman's places were radio boxes filled with cigarettes.

One of the handsomely appointed tables was decorated with blue Venetian glass candlesticks holding pink tapers, the centerpiece being a blue Venetian bowl fitted with pink roses. Another table was adorned in crystal and flowers in the Dresden shades. The fourth table was graced in the center by a handsome silver bowl holding yellow roses, and surrounded with silver candlesticks bearing a low taper.

Mrs. Colquitt wore a gown of rose colored chiffon velvet. Miss Stringfellow's gown was fashioned of tomato colored crepe combined with chiffon velvet in the same shade.

Covers were placed for members of the bridal party and members of the two families including Miss Stringfellow, Mr. Arkwright, Mrs. T. Gilmore Greene, Misses Margaret MacIntyre, Isabelle McPherson, of Cleveland, Ohio; Lewis Brown, of Berlin, N. H.; Harriet Shelden, Callie Orme, and Gordon Brown, of Berlin, N. H.; Edward K. Van Winkle, John K. Outley, Jr., Dan Conklin, Ralph Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Stringfellow, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Dr. and Mrs. Glenville Giddings, Mr. and Mrs. John Knox, Mr. and Mrs. George P. ## OFFICIALS LABOR ON FINANCE SHEET

Work of balancing the city finance sheet so that disbursements will not be more than revenue to be received will be conducted at a session of the finance committee of city council this morning, it was announced Monday night by Councilman A. J. Orme, chairman.

Although it was said the pruning knife will be wielded heavily by the committee to prevent a possible shortage of funds during the fall of this year, department heads and citizens committees assigned the finance body with a flood of additional requests during the day.

Two sessions of the finance directors of the city government were held Monday and two are slated daily until the final sheet is decided upon. While city revenues will amount to only $5,350,000, according to estimates of receipts based on 1926 figures, requests of $10,300,017 were made at first by department heads, exclusive of approximately $1,000,000 needed to put the schools on a firm financial basis. The schools normally get $2,600,000, which is the 20 per cent required by the city charter, and this amount is not figured in city revenue, but the tentative budget will exceed this by about $700,000 and an addition of $852,000 deficit must be made to the excess of the budget over anticipated revenue.

Councilman Orme, in opening sessions of the committee, sounded a warning against anticipation of revenue beyond a "reasonable" amount, saying such a practice might lead to a decided deficit in city finances and place the administration in a bad light. He stated that the city gets enough money to operate the government, but that it cannot make up the large deficit of the school department without additional revenue.

He suggested that a special tax levy of 25 cents per $100 or a temporary raise in the water rate to provide this money be made.

Among special appropriations asked at the first meeting of the finance committee Monday were $40,000 for street improvements in the downtown area, $25,750 for the completion of the Peters street widening project, $7,035 to finish the Madison avenue extension, $25,000 for Candler field, $3,950 for the completion of the Washington street widening project, $20,000 for the Courtland street project, $50,000 for the usual streets ordinary fund, $85,000 to retire past due street assessment bills, $4,285 for work on the Bell street underpass, $61,200 for charitable institutions, $50,000 for the Georgia Tech, $30,000 for parks improvements, $5,000 for the Atlanta freight bureau, $3,000 for the Atlanta Convention bureau, $24,000 for the Advertiser Atlanta fund, $15,000 for the annual payment on the city's subscription to the Stone Mountain Memorial association, $40,000 for new pipe and $83,111 for free textbooks.

SCHOOLS TANGLE STILL UNSOLVED

While the finance committee of council, laboring over the task of bringing the city's expenditures for 1927 within its estimated income of $9,350,000, deferred definite action on the school budget apparently awaiting recommendation from the citizens advisory committee, the latter body, meeting at the office of Harold Hirsch Monday afternoon, likewise failed to accomplish any definite results.

With the schools facing a deficit of $700,000 as compared with its approximate income for 1927 of $2,800,000, the advisory committee was unable to finish the work before it in reviewing the school board's budget at its session Monday, lasting from 3 o'clock until after 6 o'clock. It arranged, however, to hold another meeting at some later date pending submission of additional figures by R. R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools.

Although recommendations, for which the finance committee had suspended decision on the disposition of the huge deficit that now faces the schools, were not forthcoming from the citizens advisory committee Monday, according to Mr. Hirsch's announcement, two alternatives for raising the needed funds had been suggested by A. J. Orme, chairman of the finance committee of council, at its meeting earlier in the day.

"The only way to lift the deficit," Mr. Orme stated, "is by special tax of 25 cents on the $100 or by increasing water rates sufficiently. We are faced with a grave situation, and although neither course would be popular, one of them must be taken."

The apparent consensus of opinion at the finance committee meeting seemed to be opposed to raising of the schools' revenue from 26 to 30 per cent of the city's income, as was expected to be recommended as a solution to the present crisis, the general feeling being that the schools should live within their allotted income.

Present at the citizens' advisory committee meeting, besides Mr. Hirsch, were H. Y. McCord, W. T. Perkins, W. W. Orr, Warner Martin and R. R. Ritchie.

Atlantic City, January 10.—The American beauty of the near future will be a buxom lass and a real armful, Norman Rockwell, nationally known magazine cover artist and illustrator, predicted Monday.

Rockwell has been one of the judges in the national beauty tournament since its inception and he knows his apple cheeks.

"There should be an age and weight limit for hobbled hair," the artist declared. "Bobbed hair looks good only on slim young girls."

But it won't be necessary to pass a law. "Eventually the buxom type of beauty," said the illustrator fondly, "will return to style. Lamb chops and pinneaus will disappear from the feminine diet. And unshorn locks will again be popular."

Funeral services for Marion Black, of 234 Beckwith street, negro porter for the Pullman company running between Atlanta and Montgomery, Ala., for the past 27 years, who died early Monday morning, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Wheat Street Baptist church.

Black has been an active member of the Wheat street church for more than a quarter of a century and has been a deacon there for many years. He also was active in colored fraternal orders.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

SHIPS OF WAR CONTINUED TO ARRIVE IN NEW YORK HARBOR, BRINGING HESSIANS AND SCOTTISH HIGHLANDERS. HESSIANS WERE REGARDED AS TERRIBLE FIGHTERS WHOM NO ONE COULD RESIST. THE BRITISH HAD ABOUT 30,000 SOLDIERS IN THE VICINITY OF NEW YORK. WASHINGTON HAD ABOUT 20,000 MEN DISPERSED AT VARIOUS POINTS EXPOSED TO ATTACK. THE PROSPECTS OF THE AMERICANS WERE GLOOMY—DESTITUTION AMONG THE SOLDIERS WAS WIDESPREAD—MUCH SICKNESS PREVAILED.

ACTION WAS NOW IMMINENT. 20,000 BRITISH ADVANCED TO DRIVE THE AMERICANS FROM BROOKLYN HEIGHTS, WHICH COMMAND NEW YORK CITY. 15,000 BRITISH WERE SENT AGAINST ELIZABETHTOWN AND AMBOY. SIX AMERICAN BATTALIONS, UNDER GENERAL GREEN, HELD BROOKLYN HEIGHTS. WASHINGTON COULD SPARE NO MORE, AS THE BRITISH FLEET WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY ATTACK NEW YORK CITY AT THE NEXT TIDE. THE DOOM OF WASHINGTON SEEMED SEALED. THE PANIC IN THE CITY WAS FEARSOME.

THE AMERICANS HAD WELL FORTIFIED BROOKLYN HEIGHTS. GENERAL GREEN, HAVING FALLEN ILL, WAS SUCCEEDED BY GENERAL SULLIVAN. WITH SHOT AND SHELL AND THE DEADLY FIRE OF SHARPSHOOTERS, THE AMERICANS ASSAILED THE BRITISH ON THEIR MARCH TO THE HEIGHTS. THE ROAR OF BATTLE CONTINUING SEVEN DAYS ENGULFED THE COUNTRYSIDE. THERE WERE SCENES OF AWFUL SLAUGHTER, WHEN AN OVERWHELMING NUMBER OF HESSIANS BAYONETED AMERICANS WITH THE FURY OF DEMONS. AS WASHINGTON VIEWED ONE OF THESE SCENES, WHERE SEVERAL COMPANIES OF HIS TROOPS WERE LITERALLY BUTCHERED BY HESSIAN BAYONETS, HE EXCLAIMED: "OH, GOOD GOD, WHAT BRAVE FELLOW I MUST THIS DAY LOSE." 15,000 BRITISH ATTACKED 5,000 AMERICANS. THE AMERICANS WERE LOST IN KILLED, WOUNDED AND CAPTURED 1,200. AMONG THE PRISONERS WAS GENERAL SULLIVAN. IT WAS A HEAVY DEFEAT.

LONE BLACK BANDIT ROBS BRANCH STORE

A lone bandit put in his appearance in Atlanta Monday night and at the point of a pistol, robbed a branch of the I. W. Rogers Grocery company at 41 Houston street of $31 after forcing two clerks to retreat to the rear of the store.

The bandit, according to a description furnished Call Officers M. C. McCord and George F. Barrett, apparently was not more than 24 years of age, was about six feet tall and weighed in the neighborhood of 165 pounds. He wore a light overcoat and a tan shirt with no tie.

The hold-up man was seen to loiter around the door until all customers had left. He then covered J. L. Davis and E. R. Stephens, the two clerks, with his pistol, forcing them to raise their hands above their heads and walk to the back of the store.

As the bandit started out, after robbing the cash register, he kicked aside a negro customer, Earl Campbell, of 222 Piedmont avenue, who had walked into the door.

Present at the citizens' advisory committee meeting, besides Mr. Hirsch, were H. Y. McCord, W. T. Perkins, W. W. Orr, Warner Martin and R. R. Ritchie.

Washington, January 10.—More than half a dozen "wet" members of the senate would be disqualified if a resolution proposed by Senator Blease, of South Carolina, passes the upper body of congress.

His resolution would make ineligible any senator who had "publicly declared against the constitution or a law pursuant to any provision thereof."

Virginia to Probe Lynching of Negro

Wytheville, Va., January 10.—(AP) Circuit Judge Horace Southerland, late today summoned a special grand jury to resume investigation of the lynching of Raymond Bird, negro, who was removed from the W. the county jail here on August 15, shot and his body hung from a tree near the St. Paul settlement in the western end of the county.

The grand jury, which is composed of the same men who started an inquiry into the affair soon after it occurred, will meet Tuesday at 10 o'clock. The earliest grand jury of which they were members, adjourned without making a report and automatically went out of existence.

ASTOR MADE DIRECTOR OF GREAT NORTHERN

St. Paul, Minn., January 10.—(AP) Vincent Astor, of New York, was elected a director at a meeting of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad here today.

Home-made, but Ends Coughs In a Hurry

A family supply of dependable cough medicine. Easily made and serves about $2

If you have a severe cough or chest cold, with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up at night with a hoarse cough, and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Add one ounce of Pinex to your 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey. If desired. This makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes of the throat and bronchial tubes with an ease and promptness that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaicol, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CITIZENS TO ASK STREET WIDENING

Immediate action toward widening of Luckie street from Barlow street to North avenue will be asked from the city finance committee by a delegation of property owners in the sixth ward at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, according to an announcement Monday by Raleigh E. Drenner, Atlanta automobile dealer.

Anxiety on the part of the sixth ward property owners to have the city finance committee act promptly on the proposed improvement is augmented by the fact that an affirmative vote by this committee will encourage the county to cooperate in the work.

Widening of Luckie street, it is pointed out, will form an outlet for streets further downtown which are generally congested. Also, it will be a connecting link with North Side drive through Memorial park.

Ultimately, it is hoped by sixth ward property owners that widening of Luckie street will bring about a new artery to Fulton County from downtown Atlanta.

MANY EMPLOYED THROUGH SERVICE LEICRAW REPORTS

Despite a large influx of people from Florida and northern states, rendering Atlanta's employment problem more difficult than usual, the most successful year in the history of the Community Employment service was revealed in an annual report released Monday by Roy Leicraw, president.

Operating on a budget of about $9,000 the employment bureau, which is a service branch of the Community Chest, handled 18,000 registrations and placed 6,749 in jobs without cost to employer or employee. The figure represents an increase of $70 over the total placed in 1925, and about 2,000 over 1924.

The Community Employment service work is departmentized into four divisions; one to handle women over 21; one to handle men over 21; another to handle men and women under 21 and a fourth for colored help.

MILTON AVENUE CLUB WILL MEET TONIGHT

All committees of the Milton Avenue Community club are requested to be present at a meeting at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night as several matters of importance are to be taken up. Discussion will also be given regarding improvements in the district. The meeting will be held in the Milton Avenue school.

SMALLPOX DELAYS NUMBER OF TRIALS

Cases against all defendants confined in the left wing of Fulton tower on the third floor have been postponed until further notice in Fulton superior court following announcement that the wing has been quarantined on account of smallpox discovered Sunday.

According to jail officials a negro inmate of the prison became violently ill Saturday night and an examination of physicians showed that he had developed smallpox. There were three other negro inmates in the cell with him, but many more are confined in the quarantined ward. The negro is being treated at the tower.

Officials declare that there was no danger of the disease spreading to other parts of the jail and trial of other prisoners who are not confined in this wing will not be affected.

Atkinson to Talk Before Chamber Thursday Noon

Definite plans for a year's program of thrift education in Atlanta will be mapped by the thrift committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting to be held before the chamber's thrift luncheon Thursday of this week, it was announced Monday by Stewart F. Gelders, chairman of the committee.

Members of the committee include George W. West, co-chairman representing the senior chamber of commerce, of which he is president; Baxter Macleod, representing banking interests; J. L. R. Boyd, representing credit unions; Roy LeCraw, former president of the junior chamber, representing insurance agencies; Horace Russell, representing the Georgia Building and Loan league, of which he is secretary, and Lawrence Burdette, representing the Atlanta Real Estate board.

H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of the Georgia Railway and Power company, is to make the keynote address of the thrift campaign at the luncheon Thursday.

GILLESPIE GIVEN CHANGING TERM FOR BOST DEATH

Frank P. Gillespie, son of City Detective Ben Gillespie, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of voluntary manslaughter before Judge E. D. Thomas in Fulton superior court and was sentenced to serve from 10 to 15 years on the chain gang.

Gillespie was indicted on a charge of murder on October 26 by the Fulton county grand jury in connection with the shooting of B. P. Bost, of 453 South Pryor street, who was fatally wounded in the home of Mrs. Arlene Collins, of 20 Haynes street. The plea was entered by William Schley, Gillespie's attorney, after the court consented to change the charge to voluntary manslaughter.

At the time of the shooting Gillespie declared that Bost had attacked him with a knife.

FINAL SERVICES FOR JOHN W. YOPP HELD MONDAY

Funeral services for John W. Yopp, prominent Atlanta publisher of suburban trade journals and owner of the Southern Periodical Publishing company who died Saturday night at a private hospital following a brief illness, were held Monday morning from the residence, 67 Prado, The Rev. W. R. Hendricks, officiated. Interment was in West View cemetery.

A native of Laurens county, Mr. Yopp moved to Atlanta at an early age and has been a resident of the city since that time. He has always taken an active interest in the various civic and fraternal activities of the city and was a member of Malta Lodge F. & A. M., Atlanta Lodge of Elks, Capital City club and the Atlanta Safety council. He was a member of the St. Mark's Methodist church.

Mr. Yopp's company published "The Southern Coal Journal, Refrigeration, Southern Dairy Products Journal and Southern Funeral Directors. For several years he was secretary of the Georgia Manufacturers association and was very much interested in the development of industries in the south. He is survived by his wife and two children, Bettie and John Yopp, Jr.; a brother, Alexander Yopp, of Birmingham, Ala.; his mother, Mrs. Lela R. Yopp and four sisters, Mrs. L. P. Fordham, of Pavo, Mrs. L. L. Wolfe, of Orlando, Fla., Mrs. W. R. Hendricks, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Henry W. Atkinson.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

IN AUGUST, 1857, IN THE MIDST OF WHAT SEEMED TO BE AN ERA OF GREAT NATIONAL PROSPERITY, AN OHIO TRUST COMPANY FAILED FOR $7,000,000 THROUGH SPECULATING. AS A RESULT MANY NEW YORK BANKS REDUCED THEIR LOANS AND A GENERAL FINANCIAL CRASH ENSUED.

BANKS SUSPENDED SPECIE PAYMENTS AND BUSINESS WAS ALMOST COMPLETELY PARALYZED. MANY RAILROADS AND FACTORIES WERE UNABLE TO OPERATE AND THOUSANDS OF WORKMEN WERE THROWN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

FREIGHT BUREAU TO HOLD BANQUET SATURDAY NIGHT

The 25th annual meeting and dinner of the Atlanta Freight bureau will be held Saturday night at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, it is announced by Harry T. Moore, traffic manager. Invitations to the members were sent out Saturday.

The dinner will be informal. Sam D. Jones, of the Atlanta Store Works, who was one of the founders of the freight bureau, will review the early history of the organization, the causes which led to its birth and some of its accomplishments.

Officers of the bureau will make their annual reports and directors for 1926 will be elected by the members. The directors will subsequently elect officers for the year. The present officers of the Atlanta Freight bureau are E. S. Papp, White Provision company, chairman; J. R. Bachman, Atlanta Milling company, first vice chairman; John M. Cooper, Food & Davies company, second vice chairman; I. A. Hirschberg, treasurer, and Harry T. Moore, traffic manager.

CHARLES RIDLEY REID DIES IN EL PASO, TEXAS

Friends in Georgia and Alabama of Charles Ridley Reid Monday learned with regret of his death, which occurred in El Paso, Texas, Sunday night after an illness of several months.

Mr. Reid was vice president of the Reid Lumber company, of Selma, Ala., and has been prominently connected with the lumber industry for a number of years. He was born and reared in LaGrange, Ga., later moving to Alabama.

Mr. Reid is survived by his wife and a daughter, Mrs. W. B. Stewart, of El Paso, and two sons, Charles Augustus and Sam Reid; also by his mother, Mrs. S. A. Reid, three sisters, Mrs. Harry Roberts, of Bonham, Texas; Mrs. D. Cooper, of New Orleans, and Mrs. E. B. Freeman, of Atlanta, and by one brother, J. A. Reid, of Selma, Ala. The funeral will be held Thursday morning in Birmingham, Ala., Mr. Reid's former home.

COMMERCIAL APPEAL MAY CHANGE HANDS

Memphis, Tenn., January 10.—(AP) Responding to rumors that sale of The Commercial Appeal (morning) and The Evening Appeal was imminent, Lovick P. Miles, president of the company, announced today that offers for controlling interest in the corporation have been made by Colonel Luke Lea, of Nashville, and his associates, and by three other interests.

Those who hold a majority of the stock in the company are inclined to favor the proposal of Colonel Lea and Mr. Caldwell. Mr. Miles said, but added that "unless there is practically unanimous acceptance of any proposal, no other conditions are met, there will be no sale to them or to any other interests."

The president explained that "one of the conditions" is that purchasers must be interested materially in Memphis and the Memphis territory, "and there must be no departure from principles which have distinguished publication of The Commercial Appeal."

"The proposal of Colonel Lea and Mr. Caldwell involves, at their insistence, my continuance as president and publisher of the combined papers," Mr. Miles said in a statement.

Mr. Miles, member of a distinguished law firm here, recently was elected president of the company to succeed C. P. J. Mooney, whose death occurred in November.

Ancient Curfew Invoked in Fight Against Gunmen

Marion, Ill., January 10.—The ancient curfew to be associated in Williamson county against the highly efficient weapons of modern gang warfare.

Failing to stop the machine gun and airplane bombing raids that have added new victims almost weekly to the murder toll, the mayor of Marion has decreed that all citizens must be in their homes by 11 p. m. unless they have legitimate reason to be abroad.

Sheriffs of three Southern Illinois counties that have been the battleground of the rival forces of the Birger and Shelton gangs, Tuesday met in a council of war. They are Oran Coleman, of "bloody" Williamson county; Lige W. Turner, of Saline, and Frank Pritchard, of Franklin.

Meanwhile efforts to identify two of the four slain in the attack on the Birger roadhouse, "Shady Rest," Saturday night, failed. They are believed to have been George, caretaker, and his wife. The bodies found in the ruins of the roadhouse were burned beyond recognition.

"Shady Rest," a hut and a small power house were fired after neighbors heard the exchange of several volleys of shots and saw a number of autos at the place.

The others, who are thought to have gone the way of many in the last six years of "bloody" Williamson county's history, are Jack Crews, a gunman, and Elmo Thompson.

INNESS HONORED

Artist's Canvas Hangs in Church in Florida.

Tarpon Springs Fla., January 10.—(AP) A bit of canvas on which George Inness, Jr., the artist, applied his brush for the last time was hung in the Universalist church yesterday. With seven others it constitutes a memorial to the artist, who worshipped in the church during 30 years of winter residence.

The painting, called "The Lord in His Holy Temple," shows a dense forest and is a companion picture to "The Only Hope," for which he is best known. It was finished last July, three days before the artist's death.

An observance of the 73rd anniversary of the artist's birth, which was yesterday, marked the presentation of the painting. Mrs. Inness was among those who heard Dr. John Smith Love, of Boston, general superintendent of Universalist churches in America, and Winfield Scott Clime and J. Graham Reeves, of New York, speak of Inness and his work.

OUTDOOR SIGN MEN MEET IN CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Ohio, January 10.—(AP) For the purpose of organizing an association for outdoor sign advertising companies of the United States, owners and representatives of plants from all parts of the country gathered here today. They will hold sessions tomorrow and Wednesday, at which the framework of the new organization will be planned.

L. M. Ramsey, Lexington, Ky., is leading the movement for a separate organization for those advertising companies which do not at this time belong to the one outdoor sign advertising company in this country. The association will be formed to provide larger group representation for sign companies, "in the interest of business and better service," it was said.

$34,000,000 HEARING BEGINS THIS MORNING

Detroit, January 10.—(AP) How a few thousand dollars invested in Henry Ford's vision of an automobile in 1903 returned millions in dividends in little more than a decade will be brought out at hearing commencing here tomorrow on the appeal of nine former minority stockholders of the Ford Motor company against additional income tax levies.

The appellants are Senator James Couzens and eight others, only one of whom originally invested as much as $10,000, and who now are facing the possibility of being obliged to pay some $34,000,000 additional income tax. More than $20,000,000 already has been paid up by the petitioners.

The suit, to be heard by a division of the federal board of tax appeals, centers on the value as of March 1, 1913, of 7,480 shares of stock in the Ford Motor company, which Henry Ford took over in 1918 from the minority holders. Ford purchased the stock at $9,400 a share. The government contends the stock on March 1, 1913, was worth only $3,000 a share. If it is successful in its contention, it would levy additional taxes on the greater profits it thus would show accrued in the years following 1913. The valuation as of 1913 is fixed by law for calculation of values upon which profits arising later might be computed.

BOLTON O. E. S. SEATS OFFICERS FOR 1927

Newly elected officers of the Bolton chapter No. 143, Order of Eastern Star, who were installed at a meeting in Bolton Masonic hall during the past week, are: Mrs. Allene Williams, matron; Joe Simmons, patron; Mrs. Lillian Ivy, associate matron; Mrs. Mabel Brothugh, secretary; Mrs. Eva Mauldin, treasurer; Mrs. Vera Webb, conductress; Mrs. Lerah Mitchell, associate conductress; Mrs. Belle Gramlin, chaplain; Miss Edna Rolander, marshal; Mrs. Mabel Hicks, organist; Mrs. Lily May Hudcins, Ada; Miss Floy Lord, Ruth; Mrs. Jessie Martin, Esther; Mrs. Artie Davis, Martha; Mrs. Avis Brown, Electa; Miss Lena McDonald, warden, and D. L. McDonald, sentinel.

The retiring officers presented Mrs. Ray, junior past matron, with a large silver coffee urn as a token of their esteem, and she gave each of them a jeweled compact.

CHINAMAN HELD FOR DEPORTATION AFTER HEARING

Another one may be added to the teeming millions in far eastern poppy land.

Kong Ting, alias Harry Yee, Chinaman, failed Monday to prove to the satisfaction of Judge Samuel H. Sibley in United States federal district court that he was born in the United States and he was ordered to be deported.

Young could remember being in the United States since he was four years old, but he couldn't remember further back than that and he had only been told he was born in San Francisco. The burden of proof was on him and he couldn't give sufficient proof to convince Judge Sibley.

He had just left the federal penitentiary where he was sent from Cincinnati on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Harrison narcotic act. He left Saturday and the order was issued Monday for his deportation.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK AT BRUNSWICK EVENT

Governor Clifford Walker left Atlanta Monday night for Brunswick, where he will deliver an address at a civic celebration to be held at a new land development on Long Island, adjacent to St. Simon island.

Several prominent business men of Brunswick will make speeches while several special entertainment features will be provided.

A motion picture by his counsel was granted and bond was assessed at $1,000. Young Ting had not furnished bond Monday night. He told the court in his testimony that his father and mother died when he was four years old and he was turned over to an uncle who later left him and went back to China. He now has no relatives living as far as he can ascertain. Young is 22 years old.

INJURED GIRL BETTER, HOSPITAL REPORTS

Miss Mary Inman Pearce, popular Atlanta society girl who was injured in a fall from a horse Saturday morning on Powers Ferry road while riding with Miss Natalie De Golan and Richard De Golan, was reported to be much better late Monday afternoon, according to doctors at Davis-Fischer hospital. Although she is still considered serious, it was stated.

Miss Pearce is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. E. D. Pearce, of Andrews drive.

Coming to Erlanger Theater.

Welcome announcement to those Atlanta film followers who for some time past have been familiar with the spectacular and sensational success of Paramount's big feature, "Beau Geste," during its current lengthy engagement at the Criterion theater in New York, is contained in the news that the adventuresome and exciting film is to inaugurate a week's engagement at the Erlanger theater, starting Monday night, January 17, and twice daily thereafter, at 2:30 and 7:30. "Beau Geste" was made for the screen from Major Percival Christopher Wren's thrilling novel of the same name. The cast is a most popular and distinguished one, headed by Ronald Colman, who interprets the title role; Ralph Forbes, Neil Hamilton, Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, Noah Beery, Norman Trevor, William Powell and innumerable others. West End Theater.

"The Black Pirate," which opened a two-day run at the West End theater yesterday, is a thrilling, exhilarating photographic film with Douglas Fairbanks in the leading role of the Black Pirate himself, giving one of the best performances of his long stardom. "Doug" exhibits astounding agility and success seems to make no difference whatever to his amazing muscles.

The story is beautifully romantic and tells of dark-browed and black-hearted pirates who swept the seas in the 17th century. One such blood-thirsty set of buccos capture the ship on which Doug, who is really a duke, and his father are sailing. The ship is ransacked and then blown to bits, killing Doug's father. Doug straightaway vows vengeance on the pirates and attains it in a most unusual way. Beautiful Billie Dove is seen opposite him.

Fairfax Theater.

The thrilling tale of the adventures of a wanted girl are vividly portrayed in "Classified," which is playing for the last time today at the Fairfax theater in East Point. Corinne Griffith, who has acquired a wide reputation as a light comedienne in addition to her dramatic ability, is starred in this picture. Perhaps no other picture made in the current season has

Tenth Street Theater.

There is a highly diverting comedy at the Tenth Street in "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," which is closing a two-day run at that theater today. An unusual cast played the Monday houses at the Tenth Street. "Bluebeard's Seven Wives" is one of the most original things ever accomplished in the comedy line. The picture gets its title from the exploitation stunt evolved by a motion picture press agent to make his young movie star a popular sensation. The press agent conceals a future for the young star in which at least seven wives are thrown across his path. With so many marriages the press agent is sure that his charge will become known as a modern Bluebeard.

The press agent, however, figures without a little thing known as love. When his star succumbs to this, all plans are in the discard. The comedy throughout is fast and there is a beautiful Romeo and Juliet scene enacted by Lyon and Blanche Sweet. "Bluebeard's Seven Wives" is more

The Metropolitan.

Monday night at the Metropolitan drew a fair-sized collection of Atlanta's film fans who saw Doris Kenyon, playing the lead in the feature, "Miss Mates," unfold a breathless little drama released recently by First National, which had as its theme the ever-new tragedy of a young mother separated from her child.

Can a man marry a millionaire? Go and see. If the ballroom scene, that one where the upper crust crumble in its wine cups, doesn't convince you to the contrary, you'd better try it yourself, Gertrude.

Ben Turpin, as the dashing cavalier in the newest triumph, "When a Man's a Prince," looked two ways for a couple of laughs and got a house full of them. Ben is death with a rattle and he hardly ever looks where he thrusters.

The Metropolitan orchestra struck again when Enrico Leide offered as a feature number the "Chinese Music."

—BILL SHIPPEN.

The Rialto.

For purely senseless, but riotously funny comedy, "Take It From Me," at the Rialto is about as good as it gets. Reginald Denny, star of many excellent farces, is at his very best in this light and frothy comedy, and dashes through it with an air of serio-comic abandon that would bring laughs from the longest-faced reformer.

Lee Moran, who, it may be recalled, has appeared in one or two comedies before, is teamed with Ben Hur as the blundering floorwalkers of Denny's department store, and they give the featured comedian all the support he or anyone else could desire.

Blanche McElroy graces the picture as the feminine lead.

"Take It From Me" also shows the theater's excellent direction. The troupe has gotten everything possible out of the story, and elicited good performances from all members of the cast.

"Don Key, Son of Burro," the comedy on the bill, is not a Mack Sennett comedy despite the burlesqued name, but a rather good one, by the way, Mr. Sennett ever put forth.

The Howard.

One can never tell about the famed D. W. Griffith. He has made masterpieces, and failures. "Sorrows of Satan," at the Howard is quite a vicious neither. With a cast that is so excellent, and direction in spots that is nothing short of masterful, "Sorrows of Satan" is not by any chance be anything short of popular. But with a certain tendency to become a sermonette it could not be classed as a masterpiece.

The mere fact that it is a Griffith picture, with that inescapable something that Griffith puts into a picture should probably not cause much financial joy to the Howard management. Griffith has taken four characters, Adolphe Menjou, Ricardo Cortez, Carol Dempster and Lya de Putti, and used them practically to exhaustion of others. The other figures in the picture merely serve as dark background to throw the main characters into relief.

The Howard has thrown over this week one of its oldest customs—that of no encore numbers. But it might be suspected after all that there is nothing else to do. Art Landry and his orchestra, according to net applause, are the most popular stage attraction ever presented by the Howard. They gave three extra numbers on Monday night. Zimmerman and Grandville, yodelers, give very good exhibitions of that art as the front act.

BRUCE SAYS WE'LL OFFER 2 'ALS'

Washington, January 10.—(AP)—Democrats in the senate today engaged in a discussion of the part prohibition will play in the 1928 presidential campaign and whether a "wet" or a "dry" will be their candidate.

Senator Bruce, of Maryland, served notice on democratic "drys" that if a presidential candidate was nominated, the wet would hold another convention to select a nominee of their collection. He declared Governor Smith, of New York, or Bitchie, of Maryland, were the outstanding possibilities.

The political prognostication was injected following an attack by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, on the prohibition unit for using "under cover" agents. He condemned the practice as a "black and white" operation and introduced a resolution calling upon Internal Revenue Commission Blair and Assistant Secretary Andrews, of the treasury, to account for the expenditures of these agents. The resolution went over until tomorrow.

Senator Heflin, of Alabama, took exception to the prophecy of Senator Bruce that prohibition would cause the selection of a "wet" presidential nominee by the democrats, contending that the 33 dry western and southern states would designate their candidate.

YOUNG GIRL SLAIN BY JEALOUS WIFE; WARNED HUSBAND

Chester, Pa., January 10.—(AP)—A young mother, 21, today shot and killed her 17-year-old daughter, and then turned the gun on her husband, who was lying in bed, she was told by a neighbor.

The dead girl was Catherine Cardello, and the wife Mrs. Julia Fiddle. The shooting occurred in Miss Cardello's bedroom in the presence of her mother, Mrs. Mary Cardello, and her brother.

"I warned her, I warned her," said Mrs. Fiddle.
